Katina meets Danny

Katina Plunk, right, 6- year- old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Plunk of Dexter, met Danny Thomas, founder of St. Jude's Children's Research Hospital in Memphis, Tenn., on one of her recent visits to the hospital. Katina has been battling leukemia for three years and now appears to be cured due to a "miracle drug".

Council takes action on trash and burning

The City Council Monday night repealed the city's solid waste ordinance and then voted to redesignate it as a resolution and submit it to the state as Sikeston's plan for solid waste disposal.

The council then asked that the city's present anti-burning law be enforced. The law bans all types of burning except in an approved incinerator.

The council accepted a report calling for a 50-cent rate increase to See-More Cable TV, beginning when a new micro-wave hookup to St. Louis is complete.

A joint school- city indoor swimming pool proposal was brought before the council again

City Attorney Manuel Drumm told the council the city would have to amend its liquor- by- the drink ordinance to comply with the new state law concerning liquor sales at resorts.

GARBAGE

In 1973. the city adopted a solid waste ordinance, and Monday night they repealed it. The ordinance will now become the city's plan for garbage disposal required to be submitted to the state by June 20.

The reason for the maneuver was that councilmen think the ordinance needs changes and that it is easier to change a plan than to amend an ordinance.

The city will seek an additional six months until Jan. 1, 1975 to implement the plan. Under the state law, the plan is supposed to go into effect on July 1. Acting City Manager Bill Whitlock said today he will write a letter to the State Health Department requesting the delay to conduct negotiations with haulers and work out the mechanics of the plan.

BURNING

One thing the city's solid waste disposal law must have, the State Health Department says, is a prohibition against all burning except for leaves and twigs.

Even if the city receives its six- month delay, burning here will end soon.

The council said it wants the city's anti-burning ordinance enforced, and Whitlock said today he anticipates enforcement will begin on July 1.

A prime reason for enforcing the anti-burning ordinance now is to give haulers an opportunity to discover how much equipment they will need to handle the city's garbage after Jan. 1.

The city ordinance bans all open burning except by special permission of the fire department.

The ordinance defines open burning as "any fire where the products of combustion are emitted into the atmosphere and are not directed there by or through a smoke stack, chimney or other vent flue or structure."

In explaning the need to stop the burning now, Mayor Frank Ferrell said that if the burning is not stopped, haulers will not know how much equipment they will need. Then one day the state would step in and order an immediate halt to burning, he said. At the point that happened, the haulers would not have enough equipment to handle the added garbage.

CABLE TV

The council accepted a report suggesting an additional 50 - cent rate hike for See-More Cable TV when the company's micro-wave system is installed. The 50 cents will be on top of a dollar increase already approved for that time, raising See-Mor's rates to $6.50 when the new system becomes operational.

The report was made by a committee of councilmen and Whitlock, who studied the company's financial structure.

See-More officials cited inflation as the primary reason for a rate hike.

The micro-wave hookup, which will bring in three channels from St. Louis, is expected to be operational in a few months.

Drumm will prepare an ordinance for granting the rate hike to present at the next council meeting.

POOL

Ferrell said the joint city - school district indoor swimming pool proposal is being considered again.

Ferrell said he and school board member Phil Barkett, councilman Bill Ryan, planning and zoning commissioner Bob Stearnes and Chamber of Commerce executive director Bill Wellborn recently flew to Columbia to see that city's swimming pool.

Ferrell said the committee is looking to see what kind of federal funds if

Man shot 4 times

Gregory B. Tweedy, 25, of Park Forest, Ill., is listed in serious condition in the intensive care unit at Missouri Delta Community Hospital after allegedly being shot four times early today by his wife.

The shooting occurred at 1:10 a.m. in Room 301 at Holiday Inn.

Police said he was shot four times in the abdomen and both legs with a .38 - caliber revolver allegedly fired by his wife, Catherine Ann, 21.

The shooting reportedly occurred during a quarrel after both had been drinking.

Officers found Tweedy lying on the floor. Tweedy told officers that he had shot himself accidentally.

But police said Mrs. Tweedy kept repeating that she didn't mean to do it.

Mrs. Tweedy was taken into custody for assault with a dangerous and deadly weapon and turned over to the New Madrid County Sheriff's department and was placed in the New Madrid County jail this morning.

Madrid to advertise for waste collection bids

NEW MADRID — A proposal for citywide garbage and solid waste collection was ordered advertised for bids at the City Council meeting Monday night. The proposed service will provide weekly collection for each household and business with a fee for the service being added to the utility bills.

City Administrator Don Lloyd advised the council that engineering bids and estimates for resurfacing streets and construction of storm sewers in the New Town section in the northeast part of the city had been received and that the preliminary cost estimate was $8.06 per property foot to the property owners adjoining the new streets.

A resolution was approved for the immediate advertising of the city'sintent to proceed with construction.

Lloyd reported that negotiations for power sales to the city of Kennett are continuing and that Kennett officials are completing certain necessary arrangements.

Mrs. Elihu Mills was granted temporary permission to park a mobile home behind her home at 719 Mill St. during the illness of her mother.

A board order was made to property owners allowing grass and weeds to grow on vacant lots be given a written notice that they have five days to comply with the city ordinance requiring that they be cut.

Bob Pulliam was named to fill the vacancy on the housing authority board created when Jim Cravens was elected mayor. The appointment is for the balance of a three-year term which expires in December 1975.

A portable stop sign was approved for use during Little League baseball games at the city park on Davis Street.

The need for an ordinance requiring the demolition of derelict houses and buildings was discussed. The board requested model ordinances be obtained for study from the Missouri Municipal League.

A list of election judges was approved for submission to the county clerk for consideration in the special city election to be held July 9 for the election of a city marshal.

Named in ward one were Bonnie Boyd, Elsie Hampton, Margaret Boyd and Carrie Sims; ward two, Carrie Shaver, Ola Lewis, Lucille Parks and Nettie Patterson; and ward three, Mary Meier, Helen Mahew, Algie Phillips and Mary Gaddv.

3 charged with possession

Three Sikeston youths were arrested Monday night on charges of possession of marijuana and paraphernalia. They are Ronald Joe Yant, 20, of 312 Selma St., Glen William Greene Jr., 21, of 328 Edmondson Drive and Barbara Mayfield, 18, of 614 N. Kingshighway.

Bond was posted at $800 each for Greene and Miss Mayfield and $300 for Yant, County Prosecutor Jim Moore has filed misdemeanor charges against all three.

State Highway Patrolman Mike Robertson made the arrest at 10:45 p.m. on a sand road off Route U, 8 miles north of Sikeston. Robertson said he saw a car driven by Yant turn onto the sand road and flash its brake lights.

"I knew no one lived down that road, so I decided to investigate," Robertsons said.

The three accused are scheduled to appear in City Court June 25.

Plan commission to meet

The Planning and Zoning Commission will meet at 7:30 p.m. today in the City Administrative Building.

The agenda will include a request from Frisco Railroad for the closing of the Maude Street crossing in order to open a Wakefield street crossing.

A request for the closing of two blocks of Frisco Street between Ruth and Kendall streets will also be considered.

The commission will also hear a request by property owners to rename Linda Drive as Windsor Drive.

Tests show child cured of leukemia

DEXTER — Katina Plunk, 6 - year - old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Plunk of Dexter, is back home this week following a week's stay in St. Jude's Children's Research Hospital in Memphis, Tenn.

Her parents said Friday that she had recovered swiftly from pneumonia and is now actively pursuing her normal activities.

Tina has leukemia and was scheduled to go off all medication this month for the first time in three years. Mrs. Plunk said Tina is still on medication but tests showed no sign of leukemia.

Born in April 1968, Katina was a normal and exceptionally healthy child until the age of 3 when she became seriously ill, ran a high fever and bruised easily. Her mother took her to a Sikeston physician, who immediately suggested that Katina be taken to St. Jude's Hospital for diagnosis and treatment.

After extensive tests, Mrs. Plunk was told her daughter had leukemia and that she could undergo treatment and therapy at St. Jude's but chances for a cure in such cases were rare.

Katina has been to Memphis once a week ever since her condition was discovered, along with periodic month-long stays.

February 1973 was a month of trial and triumph for the tiny, always smiling Tina. Leukemia victims being high susceptible to virus and infection, Tina caught a cold which developed into pneumonia, (called acute lymphocytic, when it occurs in leukemia victims). She was taken to Memphis where she remained several weeks under close observation. She was administered various types of medication, but all in vain.

Doctors conferred with her parents and presented them a difficult choice. Tina could be administered a recently discovered "miracle drug" which might save her life. Without the drug, they were told she had only 24 to 48 hours to live.

They said the drug had been known to work but it was the strongest possible medication and had failed several times, sometimes even causing worse effects than the pneumonia itself.

"What could we lose," Mrs. Plunk recalls. "I was faced with the choice of standing by and letting her die or taking what little chance there was and giving the go-ahead for the injection. It could have backfired but I couldn't stand by and take away what little chance she had been given."

To the amazement of even the specialists at St. Jude's, Tina made a complete recovery in record time and was home and doing well in two months' time.

The drug which worked so wondrously on Tina has been administered to a total of only seven persons, five of whom died. But Tina goes on, and her doctors tell Mrs. Plunk that if, at the end of the month, she has not developed any further infection, she will be taken off all of her present medication, which includes large doses of several types of drugs.

"What never ceases to amaze the doctors," Mrs. Plunk explains, "even more than her recovery is her understanding of her condition and her overall attitude toward her illness.

"She completely understands what her illness means, Mrs. Plunk added. "She doesn't talk about it, but she is totally aware of all possibilities and she continues to show her always determined faith," her mother stated.

Although doctors cannot accurately estimate Tina's pattern once taken off the medications, it's likely that she will remain more susceptible to infection and virus than the normal child. Her bones are softer and she sustains injury much easier than other children. Her right leg has been broken twice since Christmas, both by only slight impacts. Her cast was removed from the latest break just last week.

Perhaps Tina's greatest triumph will take place this fall when she plans to enter Dexter public schools as a full-time student. She entered kindergarten at Southwest School last year but was forced to discontinue classes when she contracted various infections.

She's looking forward to starting again this year, though, and has decided that summer school now will help her make up for lost time so that she will be able to enter the first grade in the fall with her own age group.

Every 70 days Tina undergoes a series of tests in Memphis. She is given a spinal tap and the bone marrow is closely examined. So far, doctors report that there is no sign of damage. Tina has also been fortunate in sustaining no mental damage as a result of her illness.

Last month Tina received one of the biggest rewards she had hoped for. Danny Thomas, the well- known entertainer and founder of St. Jude's happened to be at the hospital at the time of Tina's last visit and she got to meet him and had her picture made with him, which she proudly displays to all her guests.

On the recent hospital trip Tina presented $163.77 to the hospital fund (St. Jude's is run entirely on donations). She and her brother, Gary Wade, and a sister, Kimberly Wade, went from door to door to collect the money.

The hospital accepts no payment for services, but donations are welcomed.

Tina is making every

Dexter council rejects petition

DEXTER — The City Council Monday night rejected a petition asking that a special election be held to decide whether or not the city should have city manager form of government.

The six aldermen voted to reject the petition by a 4 - 2 margin as follows: Aldermen James Williams, Cecil Day, Eldon Cooper and James Curtis voted not to accept the petition, and Aldermen Jack Smarr and Doren Vancil voted in favor of acceptance.

Mayor Willis Conner told the aldermen prior to the voting that the petition contained 396 signatures and was examined carefully by all of the aldermen except Curtis, who was not available at the time. He said they found that 144 of the signers were not registered voters. Also, he said names of persons who have died or moved from the city and signers who live outside the city limits were discounted.

Several persons signed the petition more than one time and the aldermen discounted multiple signatures.

After these names were removed, Conner said it did not appear that there was a sufficient number of signers for the mayor to call a election. However, Conner requested that the aldermen pass a resolution to either accept or reject the petition.

Following the vote, Conner further stated that he is not against hiring professional help if neededd but is against a city manager form of government at this time.

He said that within the next 60 to 90 days he will appoint a citizens committee to study different forms of city government and asked that a study be made of guidelines for future petions.

The council decided to make a study of such guidelines and report the findings at the July 1 meeting.

The council then passed an ordinance, prepared by the Missouri Municipal League with minor changes, authorizing the city to tear down dangerous or unsightly buildings after the owners fail to tear down such buildings or make necessary repairs.

All complaints regarding such buildings will be brought before the mayor since Dexter has no city engineer. A hearing will then be held by the council before any action may be taken.

If property owners cannot be located, a notice will be run in the local newspapers. The mayor will have the right to obtain professional help, if necessary.

The council accepted a bid of $3,364 from Medler-Davis Chevrolet Inc. for a new police car. The price includes trade- in of a 1972 model. This was the only bid received.

The city will advertise for bids for three new trucks to be used by the street department.

Joyce Hodder and Carl Davis were appointed to the library board to replace T. S. Hill and Naomi Jibben who have served for several years.

In answer to several inquiries about the city's bicycle ordinance, the council announced that an ordinance does exist but applies to sidewalk riding in the downtown business areas only.

In other action, the council voted to erect a no parking sign in the alley located near the old jail, passed an ordinance to blacktop Truitt Street and the extreme north and south ends of Walnut Street and passed a resolution to allow Henry McCarty to buy water form the city provided he use four- inch water lines to the master meter.

The fire department will set fire to and burn the remainder of a house owned by Virgil Mace which was partially destroyed in a previous fire. The house will be burned tonight with the owner's consent.

The council asked the street department to begin maintaining the grounds around the new fire station and jail.

An ordinance was passed calling for special tax bills to be issued for the paving of Poplar and South Bain streets.

A letter written by Max R. Miller of Sikeston to Mayor Conner was read to the council by Alderman Smarr. The letter commended Conner and the city of Dexter for an outstanding city government.

THE SAD SAGA
OF PATRICIA HEARST

Five months following the kidnapping of Patricia Hearst by the communist guerilla gang, the "Symbionese Liberation Army," it was confirmed by law enforcement officials: Miss Hearst was wanted as a willing participant in a number of violent and vicious crimes.

Missed in the news is the fact that at least two anti-communist experts, many weeks before, had predicted (with great accuracy, as it has turned out) that Miss Hearst had indeed been "brainwashed" and was not, as commonly believed at the time, an unwilling accomplice.

In early April, Dr. Fred Schwarz, President of the Christian Anti- Communism Crusade of Long Beach, California, described the brainwashing process by which Patricia Hearst was transformed into a member of the Symboionese Liberation Army and further predicted: "She could be given some difficult and criminal task to test her and make her burn her bridges."

Within the week after Dr. Schwarz wrote his prediction, Miss Hearst, holding an automatic rifle in her hands, robbed a bank with other members of the S.L.A.

Mr. Edward Hunter, Editor and Publisher of Tactics, a "monthly Psywar Jounral" (Arlington, Virginia) appeared on an NBC television "talk show' in April and also emphatically maintained that Miss Hearst had indeed been brainwashed. Dubious, the moderator of the TV show asked: "Yes, but in 60 days, can that process work?"

Patiently, Hunter explained that "brainwashing is composed of two processes: a softening up process and an indoctrination process ... she was softened up before she was ever captured. In other words, it was not a matter of 60 days. It was a matter of several years, plus 60 days. She was indoctrinated before capture ... at Berkeley."

Hunter, of course, is not the first to warn of the disastrous effects imposed upon our youth through slanted textbooks commonly found in public schools today through "hate - America" messages constantly repeated in some segments of the academic community; and of the extreme, radical, violence-prone elements to be found in such leading institutions as the University of California at Berkeley; except that most Americans seriously underestimate the impact of such pro-communist, anti-American influences upon our youth.

Both Dr. Schwarz and Mr. Hunter were right; Miss Hearst had indeed been brainwashed. But the important fact is that the "brainwashing" had already begun long before she was kidnapped; it was relatively easy, therefore, for the S.L.A. to bring her the rest of the way.

NIXON BEFORE
SUPREME COURT

Special Prosecutor Leon Jaworski has succeeded in bringing a protesting President Nixon before the U. S. Supreme Court to test the President's executive privilege claims. When the history of the Watergate affair is written, Jaworski's decision to take the issue to the high court and the court's decision to rule may have the most enduring significance.

Nowhere in the Constitution is there a specific grant of presidential authority to withhold information from Congress or the courts. The judiciarynever has presicely defined such authority. Presidents have used the ambiguity and the executive power vested in the presidency to carve out an "executive privilege" that has varied with the officeholder.

During President Nixon's tenure, the definition of executive privilege has seemed to shift daily, depending on the tactical situation. One of the President's attorneys general, Richard Kleindienst, went so far last year as to tell Congress, "Your power to get what the President knows is in the President's hands."

The absolute privilege asserted by Kleindienst would permit Congress to call witnesses and obtain information from executive agencies only if the President approved. Kleindienst said that if Congress disapproves the way a president asserts executive privilege, the remedy is impeachment.

The Nixon administration subsequently backed away from Kleindienst's hard line, but the transcripts of White House conversations make it evident that executive privilege figures heavily in the administration's defense strategy. The "scenarios" discussed by the President and his aides contained numerous references to how executive privilege could be invoked to prevent disclosure of the Watergate cover-up.

The U. S. Supreme Court is to be commended for agreeing to tackle the "separation of powers" dispute between the special prosecutor and the President over Watergate evidence, his is a thorny question the high court could have ducked by declaring the Court of Appeals should rule first. The President might not have appealed to the Supreme Court if he lost in the appeals court.

It does not follow, however, that the high court now will define the boundaries of executive privilege. The court usually avoids rulings which mark out new constitutional interpretations if it can. The court in this case could find that the President waived executive privilege when he made evidence available to indict the Watergate cover-up defendants and now cannot invoke it to prevent evidence from being used at the trial.

The President said last year he would obey a "definitive" ruling by the Supreme Court on his power to withhold evidence. The President's press spokesman is unwilling to say whether the promise still holds.

It should be unnecessary to seek reaffirmation, just as it should have been unnecessary for the President to state his willingness to abide by a high court ruling. It goes without saying that the nation's chief law enforcement officer obeys the law as interpreted by the courts. The day the President ignores a Supreme Court ruling is the day the nation moves down the road to tyranny.

'THE $100
MILLION PAYOFF"

Explosive evidence detailing how organized labor has illegally poured millions of dollars in compulsory union dues into Democratic congressional campaigns -- often with the knowledge and even solicitation of prominent Democrats -- was presented recently in a controversial new book.

"The $100 Million Payoff: How Big Labor Buys Its Democrats," written by Douglas Caddy, lays bare in meticulous detail how the AFL—CIO, its affiliates and their political action committees have apparently flagrantly violated the Federal Corrupt Practices Act using tax- exempt union dues for partisan political activities.

Caddy charges in the book that not only should the labor bosses involved -- from the top down -- be prosecuted, but that Democratic senators and congressmen who sought, accepted and used labor's resources in their campaigns, knowing it was paid for by union dues, should also be tried and convicted.

To build his case that both the unions and many of the Democratic officeholders they serve are -- and have long been -- guilty of illegal campaign financing, Caddy spent moths digging through confidential union documents. His book brings together the most damaging evidence yet uncovered about corrupt union activites.

Charging that the Justice Department is "too easily influenced and pressured to mount an effective investigation into union political corruption," Caddy proposes that a special prosecutor be appointed to root out the corruption and to prosecute the guiltv.

Working under a grant from the Center for the Public Interest of the Robert M. Schuchman Memorial Foundation Inc., Caddy was able to examine previously undisclosed union memos and documents as a result of a court action brought by dissident union members against the International Association of Machinists and Aerospace Workers (IAM) and its political arm, the Machinists Non- Partisan Political League (MNPL). The case, still being pursued in the courts, resulted in the union files being opened to the public.

The files contain letters and memos from top union officials as well as from prominent Democratic members of Congress which proved to Caddy "beyond a reasonable doubt" that:

"To a great degree, the funds supporting organized labor's political activities come from the dues paid by union members, most of whom are under compulsory unionism contracts, and that those funds are committed to partisan political purposes without regard to the normally conflicting sentiments, loyalities and wishes prevailing among union members."

The Corrupt Practices Act -- under which illegal corporate contributions to President Nixon's re-election campaign have been rightly prosecuted -- declares:

"It is unlawful for ... any labor organization to make a contribution or expenditure in connection with any election at which presidential and vice presidential electors or a senator or representative in ... Congress are voted for, or in connection with any primary election or political convention or caucus held for any of the foregoing offices, or for any candidate, political committee, or other person to accept and receive any contribution prohibited by this section."

The major point exhaustively buttressed by the evidence in Caddy's book is that unions are "flagrantly violating" this law, often by their cash contributions from union treasuries, but even more massively in the services they provide in behalf of Democratic candidates.

Caddy says it is the expenditure of union dues for such services -- to pay the salaries of labor officials assigned to campaigns for months on end, the printing of campaign literature, the use of union computers for mass mailings, massive get- out- the - vote telephone banks, postate, Democratic voter registration drives, and use of trucks and other equipment -- which mount into the tens of millions of dollars and all but dward the far smaller, though equally illegal, corporate contributions of 1972.

He contends that labor shoveled well over $50 million -- both in cash and in services -- into Democratic coffers in 1972. And he predicts that in this fall's congressional races the AFL—CIO'S 50,000 locals and their political arm, the Committee on Political Education, will provide at least another $50 million to make George Meany's dream come true: a "veto-proof" Democratic Congress.

ENERGY CRUNCH
IS LIFE—SAVER

The good news is that 1,000 fewer persons died in traffic accidents in 1973 than in 1972, according to the National Safety Council.

The council credits reduced speed limits and the shortage of gasoline for the "spectacular" reduction.

The bad news is that there were still 55,600 traffic fatalities last year compared with the 56,600 in 1972, a two per cent reduction.

Speed reductions, according to Council statisticians, played an important role in low fatality total.

BALANCED BUDGET
PROPOSED

Sen. Carl Curtis of Nebraska and Congressman Floyd Spence of South Carolina have shown that they are willing to act to lower government spending as well as talk about it. They have proposed a constitutional amendment which would require a balanced federal budget. Such an amendment would bring an end to deficit spending, with its constant and growing burden of increased taxes and inflation on the hard-working citizen.

Such an amendment would make Congressmen think twice before introducing expensive new spending programs. Without deficit spending to hide behind, these programs would require higher taxes. Voters would have a much clearer idea where these higher taxes came from and would be inclined to vote against the Congressmen responsible for them.

Of course, such an amendment does not have a very good chance of passing Congress. Said Sen. Curtis : "Congress is not going to enact such a proposal unless the people demand it."

If millions of citizens did demand it, Congress wouldn't be able to ignore the amendment. As a first step in mobilizing citizen support, the Oklahoma State Legislature has passed a resolution memorializing Congress to enact the Curtis-Spence amendment.

Said the Oklahoma resolution: "Deficit spending by the federal government has been a plague to this nation for over a third of a century and both the legislative and executive branches have repeatedly demonstrated unwillingness to stand against political pressures to spend against their means." Support for this amendment would be a good topic for letters to the editor. It is time for the people to let Congress know that their government should not live beyond its means. HLH.

Hijacking A City? Probes Disclose Atomic Bomb Material Shipped Across U.S. in Unguarded Trucks

WASHINGTON — There is a weird and hallucinatory effort by some clergy and bereaved parents to martyrize the dead of at least one Symbionese Liberation Army cadre. But Atomic Energy Commission scientists and intensely skilled counterintelligence specialists view this "subculture" more objectively.

In the SLA and some 20 to 25 other such terrorist bands the federal investigators -- and a number of scholars -- see the danger of a nuclear kidnaping. A huge factory or an entire community could be held as hostage by a band holding a simplistic but "effective" implosion bomb.

Since even classified reports on the danger now have been exposed, time is for blunt talking.

This isn't a television script with the sudden solution in the final two minutes before the commercial. Sometime ago this column reported the vulnerability of supposedly well- protected plants to the theft of SNM (special nuclear material). Three such plants were described. Now it can be reported that the sloppy security existed at three installations producing secret submarine reactors. It develops this was as much a secret as Dick Nixon's Cairo visit.

Now it is learned that the weakest link in what is supposedly a protective network around supplies of specialized uranium and plutonium (atomic bomb ingredients) is in the transportation of this SNM.

The Atomic Energy Commission doesn't run its own transport operation. It counts on private contractors. Any truck driver could be hired. There are no name checks. There have been no guards, few inventory checks and fewer efficiency reports. Yet enough SNM can be shipped in one van to make several bombs.

Thus investigators have been disturbed by the ease of what they call a "diversion" of SNM material. In recent years there have been well over 1,000 shipments of this atomic bomb fuel -- though a valise full could provide the implosion ingredients.

These shipments go by air, ship and train as well as truck. But the latter is the weakest link in AEC "transit" of SNM.

A recent probe of the insouciant handling of nuclear explosives discloses how three such shipments were transported.

Shipment A contained 82 kilograms (180 pounds) of highly enriched uranium. It rolled over more than 200 miles of open road. The SNM was carried on a flatbed truck. The cargo compartment was open. The van had no alarm or communications equipment. The truck driver was alone -- and unarmed. He had no preplanned routing so he could be checked. He just ambled along his own route. There were no periodic call- in points to inform the shipper or receiver of the truck's location. Or to confirm that he hadn't run into difficulties.

Shipment B: This contained 144 kilograms of highly enriched uranium. This one went 250 miles. The carrier was a "van- type truck." It too wasn't equipped with any communications equipment or alarm devices. This truck driver also was alone and unarmed. And "the seals used on the shipping containers could be easily duplicated thus defeating the purpose of the seals, which was to detect unauthorized tampering."

Shipment C: Here some 48 kilograms of highly enriched uranium went over 400 miles. It got to a large airport terminal. The report says: "The material was shipped in portable containers (which could be carried by one individual ...). At the airport the material was stacked on a dolly in an open bay area. No special security measures were taken to protect the material while at the airport."

These reports indicate less concern over shipmen of bomb ingredients -- radioactive material -- than is shown over the shipments of ladies' garments in New York City's rag jungle.

There has been some recent tightening of security -- in the bloody wake of the SLA-Zebra type terror. there are more armed guards around the truck and air terminals. Guards at some nuclear power plants now carry guns. There actually is some effort to check the truck drivers. There is a more careful surveying of those ordering and supposedly authorized to receive shipments.

But there has been no crash program.

Yet a study of AEC internal security, ordered by the Commission itself, shows wide open gaps and the haunting fear of SNM hijacking. The study was made by a committee of three scientists and two law enforcement agents recently. And they warned that "we feel that the danger is large and growing ... (there is) increasing dissemination" of precise instructions on atomic bomb making.

The "increasing professional skill, intelligence networks, finances and level of armaments of terrorist groups throughout the world" combine to make a clear and present danger, said the committee.

Time has come for tightening up. Or the next band of "martyrs" may go up in a more radioactive smoke. And part of the neighborhood with it.

WRITE YOUR OWN COLUMN

WASHINGTON — The mailman keeps coming in every day delivering letters which indicate the country is polarizing on the impeachment issue. The Nixon supporters blame the whole thing on the press. The Nixon detractors say the press hasn't been tough enough. What to do?

As someone who is always trying to please everyone, I believe I have a solution. I got it from the "inaudibles" on the presidential tapes. This column is the first one printed in a newspaper which will take care of both the pro- Nixon and anti- Nixon forces. You fill in the blanks any way you want to, which should satisfy everyone's desire for fairness.

Richard M. Nixon is probably the greatest ---------- in American history. He began his political life as a -------- . When he was senator, Dwight Eisenhower chose him to be his Vice President. After working with Mr. Nixon for several years Eisenhower thought he was ---------.

Mr. Nixon ran for governor of California in 1962. When he was defeated he vowed he would --------. In 1967 he ran for President of the United States on the Republican ticket. At that time he promosed the American people to -------- and -------- and --------. After being elected President he was able to -------- and -------- and --------.

In 1971 President Nixon decided to run again. To assure his re- election he told his staff to --------. The staff, determined to show their loyalty to the President, took off after the Democratic hopefuls by --------. They went so far as to --------.

Mr. Nixon was -------- of what they were doing.

The organization set up to make sure Mr. Nixon would win was the Committee for the Re- Election of the President. It raised $ ------ million. Some of this money was given by ------, some of it came from ------ and a lot of it was raised in cash by ------.

At this point in time, five men were arrested breaking into Democratic headquarters at the Watergage. When President Nixon heard about it on ------ he was ------.

The Watergate break-in led to a series of investigations by the FBI, the Senate and a federal grand jury. When the results of these investigations were brought to the President's attention he immediately ------. Then he ------ with members of his staff.

Conflicting testimony by members of the White House staff led eventually to an impeachment inquiry by the House. The key evidence, as it turned out, did not come from John Dean, who is a ------, but from tapes of conversations between the President and his staff. The President said these tapes were ------, but the special prosecutor and the House Judiciary Committee said they were ------.

Under great pressure, the White House finally released transcripts of the tapes which showed the President to be ------ in the Watergate affair. They also indicated that President Nixon was a man of ------ character.

The President's lawyers announced that they would not provide any further evidence for the impeachment proceedings. This has led some people to think the President is ------ and other people think he is ------.

There is no doubt in anybody's mind that the President will be found ------ of the charges made against him.

In any case we can expect the ------ media to ------ President Nixon until the issue is resolved.

Now if this column doesn't satisfy (ital) everyone (unital), then I'm going to Paris.

JACK ANDERSON SAYS: Senators Fiddle While Voters Burn

WASHINGTON — Throughout the Senate side of the Capitol, the three- bell alarm clamored urgently, summoning senators to the chamber. Into the great oval, its antique desks arranged in a graceful arc, they shuffled.

After answering to their names, some barged off again with the harried looks of men having more important duties. Others lingered on waiting for the debate to begin.

The two opposing senators shifted nervously on their feet as they braced for another test in the world's foremost forensic arena. There was Sen. John Tower, R-Tex., sandy-faced, his short, husky stature giving him the appearance of a larger man standing in a well. A few desks away was Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., a look of stern amiability upon his familiar face.

For the next several minutes, Goldwater and Tower solemnly debated the merits of Arizona vs. Texas chili beans. They agreed to settle their differences in the way of the West, with a chilli cook-off.

The scene was not at all uncommon. With the government in crisis, the people's elected representatives often pre- empt the floors of Congress to embark upon excursions into triviality.

Most of the time, it is true, they are engrossed in weightier matters, and perhaps a little comic relief should be welcome. But day after day, they pause from the momentous problems of our times to honor the winner of a local talent contest or to proclaim Future Homemakers of America Week.

They fiddle while the voters burn.

Congress still hasn't completed its work on campaign reforms, which would help clean up politics and prevent future Watergates from happening. Congress is also dawdling over reorganizational reforms, which would put its own houses in order. Yet the members found time for such antics as these:

-- On a mad March morning, the House devoted almost its entire morning session to thunderous oratory over actress Jane Fonda's request for the use of a House hearing room. No less than 25 congressmen, with a great exercising of lungs, joined in the polemics. Others who missed the chance to declaim kept the debate going for two more days. Yet the issue was altogether moot, for the actress already had conducted her seminar in the hearing room several weeks earlier.

--The day after May Day, Rep. Ed Derwinski, R-Ill., solemnly rose to his feet to commemorate Constitution Day in Poland. Not to be outdone in their fealty to their Polish constituents, a score or more congressmen scrabbled like spawning salmon for the House microphones to add their praise of Poland.

-- It is part of the daily routine for members to wish one another a happy birthday, to congratulate one another on a new honor or, for no apparent reason at all, to adorn one another with complimentary verbiage during public sessions. No issue before the Congress, no matter how urgent, is permitted to interfere with the political backslapping and backscratching.

-- Accolades are also bestowed, willy nilly, upon random constituents. Sen. J. Glenn Beall Jr., R-Md., interrupted the Senate proceedings, for example, to inform his colleagues glowingly that his high school coach was retiring. Rep. Mendel Davis, D-S.C., brought to the attention of the House some essays written by school children back home. And a friend of ours, Rep. Claude Pepper, D- Fla., provided the House with a splendid account of what occurred at a luncheon we helped sponsor.

The droning, out- of- context oratory on the Senate and House floors, of course, isn't always a true reflection of the real workings of Congress. Individually, the average congressman puts in a 16- hour workday. He usually gives his constituents conscientious service.

But collectively, Congress remains hopelessly cumbersome. The seniority system holds back the brightest young men, whose leadership is needed in this swift- moving time.

The old men who run Congress, honorably though they may have served in the past, are placing an intolerable brake on the law- making machinery of the national government, already in desperate need of overhaul.

Never has the need of reforms been more urgent. But the members of Congress appear to be more interested in chili beans, Jane Fonda and school children's essays.

PARK IMPROVEMENT? Tourists are told that the profits from the sale of postcards, booklets and other mementos at national parks are spent on park improvement.

Never mentioned is that the National Parks Service demands 1½ per cent of the profits, which is euphemistically called a "donation," for a special entertainment fund.

The purchasing public isn't told that their souvenir dollars help pay for parties for the bigwigs.

Local men injured in accident

Seven persons, including two Sikeston men, received minor injuries in three area traffic accidents Monday, according to the highway patrol.

Donnell Dewitt and Lee Page of Sikeston received minor injuries at 12:25 p.m. on a sand road north of Diehlstadt when their west bound car was struck by a truck driven east by John Merrick, 25, of Bertrand.

Merrick's truck was on the wrong side of the road, a spokesman for the patrol said today.

Both men were taken to Missouri Delta Community Hospital in Sikeston.

Three persons were injured at 3 p.m. on Highway 72 at Millersville when a car driven by Larry Campbell, 25, of Millersville rounded a curve at a high rate of speed and ran off the road.

Campbell was not injured, but three passengers, James Edward Walker, 18, Jimmy Lee Bell, 24, and James Edward Merriweather, 16, of Cape Girardeau, suffered minor injuries.

They were taken to Southeast Missouri Hospital in Cape Girardeau.

A two-vehicle accident at 10:10 a.m. on Route T four miles west of Perryville resulted in two minor injuries.

The accident occurred when an eastbound car driven by Hubert F. French, 71, of Perryville ran into the back of a jeep parked partially on the road and occupied by Gottfried Leo Meyer, 67, of Perryville.

French and his wife, Inez J. French, 69, were taken to Perry County Memorial Hospital in Perryville.

4-H plans talent contest

Scott County 4-H Council will sponsor its annual Share-The- Fun talent and amateur contest Friday at 7:30 p.m. in the Sikeston Activity Center auditorium.

Individual and group acts of both talent and amateur classifications are invited to participate. Any youth aged 6-20 living in the surrounding area may participate in the contest.

Prize money will be awarded, however, only to entrants currently enrolled in Scott County 4-H programs. All entrants will be awarded participation place ribbons.

Roy Strong, a representative of the Mid-South Fair Association, will be present to announce a winner to appear in the Youth Talent Contest to be held in Memphis, Tenn., Sept. 20—28.

To be eligible for this preliminary selection, an entrant may be either talent or amateur, but must be between the ages of 10 and 20- years old and must not use batons or machetes as part of their act. Strong also may issue additional invitations after Sept. 1 to entrants from this contest.

Anyone interested in participating in this amateur-talent contest should contact Mrs. Peter Myers by phone at 472-0678 by Thursday.

Convocation set June 29

OAK RIDGE — The Mystic Tie Lodge No. 221 AF & AM is sponsoring an outdoor convocation June 29 on Whitewater River near Bakers Mill.

All master Masons, their families and friends are invited to the convocation. A picnic dinner of kettle-cooked beef and other food dishes will be served beginning at 4 p.m. Water sports lovers are invited to come before 4 p.m. for boating, swimming and fishing in the river.

After dinner, all master masons will board hay wagons drawn by tractors to an area located between two hills where lodge will be opened in the third degree. At this time, a candidate will be raised to the sublime degree of master Mason.

All activities will be over by the close of the day.

2 arrested

Police today announced the arrest of Harry George Menken Jr., 627 E. Gladys St., for allowing a dog to bark at night and Juan G. Bernal of Corpus Christi, Tex., for driving while intoxicated.

HOW MUCH HOT WATER?

One of the items frequently overlooked when remodeling or buying a new home, is the capacity of the hot water heater. First notice of this oversight normally is discovered while under a hot shower when it turns ice cold prematurely. But, then it is too late. So, here's a short course on the subject.

The capacity of storage water heaters is rated in two ways and is usually imprinted on the nameplate of the tank. One number tells you the capacity of the tank, and the other number shows the recovery rate per hour. The sum of the two numbers gives you the number of gallons of hot water a tank can supply in one hour.

A tank of 50 gallons capacity with a recovery rate of 40 gallons will supply 90 gallons an hour which should be plenty for a family of five in a home with two baths and an automatic dishwasher and clotheswasher. A family of four without the dishwasher should be able to get by on a 30 or 40 gallon tank with 30 gallon recovery.

(Editor's Note: Mr. Mitchell is Past President of the Sikeston Board of Realtors and is currently serving as Vice- President of the Missouri Association of Realtors.)

Ann Landers

Person who induces hiccups or belches needs 'attention'

Dear Ann Landers: Recently you printed a letter about a kid who got to be the center of attention by getting the hiccups during study period or in a movie -- wherever it happened to be quiet and he could start an uproar. The question was: Can a person give himself hiccups at will? You said yes, some people can if they work at it.

Now I have the same question about belchers. My cousin, who is my age (17), gets lots of laughs with his loud belches. He denies he does it on purpose, but I don't believe him. His timing is too good to be accidental.

Will you please give me your answer in the paper? Several of us are suspicious -- Kinky's Questioners

Dear Qester: Belching is caused by swallowing air and it's not a difficult trick to master. That kid must feel terribly inadequate if the only way he can get people to notice him is to belch. I feel sorry for him.

Dear Ann Landers: Someone raised the question, "Where does an eligible widower or divorced man meet a woman worth marrying?" Answer: A desirable man doesn't have to go anyplace. The day he loses his mate (either in the divorce court or by death), someone at his office, store, country club or a friend of a friend is right there to grab him so fast he doesn't have a chance to go anyplace or join anything new.

Of course he loves the attention, even though he is somewhat in a state of shock. What bothers him most is the fear of being lonesome. But he really needn't worry because he never gets the chance

I am not a very aggressive person, so I've lost out on several promising prospects, but I'm learning. It doesn't pay to be reserved where eligible widowers or divorced men are concerned. The girl who is fleet of foot and quick to hop in is sure to win. - Dumb Cluck Who Is Smartening Up

Dear Cluck: It sounds as if you have the situation well sized up. Let me hear from you a year from today.

Dear Ann Landers: As a bachelor in his 40s, I would like to reply to the letter from the 39- year- old woman who believes she has so much to offer, but can't find a decent man too offer it to.

Dear Lady: I have been to adult- education classes, church groups, concerts craft groups, dances, company parties, summer and winter resorts -- everyplace you can think of. I saw you several times and I'm sure you saw me, but you turned away and I wasn't surprised. MOST women do. You see, I am not a handsome chap or a flashy dresser, a divine dancer, a fast talker or big spender. I kept trying in spite of your rebuffs, but after a while, I gave up.

You are looking for the perfect man, and he always happens to be someone's husband. Why not be realistic? At your age the only men left are the rejects or the opportunists. Your problem is not the places you've been going to, but your priorities.

Don't bother looking for me anymore. I'll be at home with a good book -- not completely satisfied but a lot less frustrated. -- H. G. of Wis.

Dear H. G.: Thanks for a good letter. It can be addressed to the bachelors who complain that there are no decent women around, and be equally valid.

Do you feel awkward, self-conscious -- lonely? Welcome to the club. There's help for you in Ann Landers' booklet, "The Key to Popularity." Send 35 cent in coin with your request and a long, stamped, self- addressed envelope to Ann Landers, P. O. Box 3346, Chicago, Illinois 60654.

USDA sets minimum grades for avocados

WASHINGTON, D. C. — Minimum grade and maturity requirements for Florida avocados marketed under a federal marketing agreement and order program has been issued by the U. S. Department of Agriculture (USDA) and became effective Monday. Avocado imports will be subject under federal law to comparable grade and maturity regulations beginning June 24.

The requirements are essentially the same as those effective during the 1973-74 season. Previously issued domestic and import regulations expired April 30.

USDA's Agricultural Marketing Service (AMS) said the regulations require avocados to grade at least U, S, No. 3, which means they must be mature but not overripe, not badly misshapen and free from decay and serious damage.

Maturity requirements -- based upon minimum weights or diameters for specified types of avocados -- will be adjusted automatically during the marketing season. This reflects the fact that as the season progresses the fruit matures at smaller sizes.

The Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act requires that imports of certain commodities, including avocados, must meet the same or comparable requirements as those imposed on domestic commodities regulated under a federal marketing order.

AMS officials said the regulations are intended to help producers in the orderly marketing of this year's crop, while providing consumers a plentiful supply of acceptable quality avocados. The requirements would help keep immature and defective fruit off the market. Officials explained that immature fruit will not ripen satisfactorily and will be unacceptable in taste.

The new regulations were published in the Federal Register June 14 and 17.

Copies are being mailed to importers, custom officials and other interested persons. Copies are also available from the Fruit and Vegetable Division, Agricultural Marketing Service, U. S. Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C. 20250.

Area girls attend state FHA meeting in Columbia

On May 30, Region 6 FHA officers, delegates and their advisors boarded a bus in Cape Girardeau bound for University of Missouri-Columbia. Approximately 40 girls attended the state meeting of the Missouri Association of the Future Homemakers of America from the schools in the surrounding area.

The theme of this year's session was "FHA — Our World and Welcome To It". The girls stayed at Schurz-Hatch Hall, a dormitory on the campus.

The girls attended four general sessions in the Jesse Hall auditorium, featuring Ken White, executive secretary of the Bicentennial Commission of Missouri, as one of the speakers. "Encounter Growth Through FHA" was presented by Debi Hegi of Missouri and Suzanne Luhl of Minnesota, former National FHA officer.

The regional officers and their delegates attended several meetings. One of the highlights were the bylaws hearings, where revisions of the FHA state constition were discussed.

Another was "Impact '74", where the girls discussed the use of FHA resources in their chapters. The objective of FHA is to help individuals improve personal, family and community living.

Ginny Minich of Alton, Mo., was elected Missouri's national officer candidate and Susan Kroeger of Centralia was elected national committee member.

The Region 6 officers also made plans for the regional workshop to be held in August and the regional meeting to be held in November.

The 1974 state meeting adjourned on June 1 and the girls journeyed for home with a better understanding of FHA and its purpose, hoping to present new ideas to their local chapters.

The 1974-75 Region 6 officers: Dotta Shell of Lutesville, president; Debbie Patterson of Oran, first vice president; Donna Thorn of Oran, second vice president Cheryl Johnson of Matthews, secretary; Daronda Lewis of Bell City, treasurer Ronnie Delle Wolf of Matthews, historian; Denise Schlosser of Kelly, reporter; Barbara Jackson of Bloomfield, recreational leader; Joyce Stroup of Kelly, song leader; Vickie Drew of Chaffee, parliamentarian; Cindy Duncan of Chaffee, devotional leader Tricie Johnson of Matthews, state representative; Margaret Rahm of Lutesville, regional advisor.

Eatons to mark 50th anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. William V. Eaton, 522 Matthews Ave., will celebrate their 50th wedding anniversary June 30 at a reception in the Masonic Temple, 320 S. Kingshighway, from 2 to 4 p.m.

POLLY'S POINTERS

Stains on stove, tile stand out

By Polly Cramer

Polly's Problem

DEAR POLLY — I hope someone can tell me how to remove stains from my bronze stove top and laminated plastic tile counter tops. Bowl rings and stains really show up. Since we have hard water I wonder if that is causing them. Please help me remedy this problem. — MRS. F.E.I.

DEAR POLLY — I work in a small convenience-type store from 7 a.m. to 4 p.m. each day and am amazed at the lack of courtesy shown by many customers. I try very hard to be polite but sometimes my anger breaks through. Most people seem to have forgotten how to say "Please" and "Thank you." So many demand rather than ask and I feel sure all salespeople would be more than willing to meet them half way or more. Thanks for allowing me to voice my Pet Peeve. — LINDA.

DEAR POLLY — I an answering Mrs. F.J.S. who complained about shopping carts being so unsanitary because of mothers carrying babies in the part that is intended for groceries. She is apparently a Mrs. but surely not a mother for a mother would know that a baby is usually the most sterilized member of the family. The "Baby's slobbering over the cart with cookies and candy" and contaminating Mrs. F.J.S.'s lettuce, celery, etc., can hardly be more offending than an adult pinching and handling fruits and vegetables with unwashed hands while a cigarette dangles from a coughing mouth.

Also, Mrs. F.J.S. did not include dogs and other pets that are supposedly forbidden in stores but often tolerated. I have an idea she is more in sympathy with those who leave a shopping cart littered with hair, dirty facial tissues, coffee cups, etc., than those carrying Baby. — MRS. H.H.

DEAR GIRLS - After Mrs. F.J.S.'s letter was published we heard from one company. Its business is picking up such grocery carts at many stores periodically to sterilize them. Store owners are not unaware of the problem. — POLLY.

DEAR POLLY — After washing my hair I rinse it with cold water. This closes the oil glands and I do not have to wash it so often. — DENA.

DEAR GIRLS — This Pointer was printed in this column some years ago but is well worth repeating. I have used it constantly since then and now would not feel my hair was clean if rinsed with warm water. The effect is so stimulating. I use it even in winter when the water is icy cold. — POLLY.

DEAR POLLY — Our son was so busy while in college that we knew he had little time for writing but still felt we had to be in touch. We would buy 10 stamped post cards at a time, address them to ourselves and send them to him so all he had to do was pick up one and write a few lines. This made us feel better just to see his handwriting and know he was all right. — MRS. V.N.

850 expected at Scout Camp

SILVA — The first regular session of Camp Lewallen, the Southeast Missouri Council Boy Scout camp, began Sunday and will run through Saturday.

Six week-long sessions are scheduled this summer, with each session beginning on Sunday and running until Saturday.

Twenty-nine staff members are employed by Southeast Missouri Boy Scout Council, headquartered in Cape Girardeau, to work with scoutmasters who bring their troops to camp. More than 850 campers are expected this year from the 65 troops that have made reservations.

Gene Cook, principal of Marquand School, has been employed as camp director, and Fred French of Sikeston is the professional camp staff advisor.

A special treat for boys attending the camp this summer will be the opportunity to meet Ronald Cresswell from Falkirk, Scotland. Cresswell will serve as a camping skills counselor.

Lessons for Young Bicyclists to Learn

Chief Leon R. Culp
Sikeston Police Department

Weather Conditions - Lesson No. 7

Every operator of any kind of moving vehicle is effected by the weather conditions prevailing. This is true of airplane pilots, in all air traffic, as well as trucks, cars, and all other ground traffic. Even our astronauts flying rockets must take heed of the weather conditions to fly safely.

Boys and girls riding bicycles MUST be careful to follow the rules of safe biking at all times, but expecially during bad weather. It is, of course, the best policy to stay off your bike during rain storms, snow storms, fog and darkness. For those who find they must ride their bikes in bad weather, to deliver papers, go to school, or other good reasons, we will use this lesson to discuss proper safety precautions.

In bad weather the bicyclist MUST remember that it is far more difficult to be seen than in bright sunshine. Everyone has ridden in an automobile with their parents, when rain or snow has been falling. Remember how the windshield wipers had a difficult time keeping the windshield clean enough to see out? Sometimes, there is a split second, each time the wipers go back and forth, when the driver cannot see ahead of him!

Do everything you possibly can to make it EASIER to see you. Wear light colored clothing, a bright colored raincoat or jacket, and have your headlight on, even though it may not be after dark!

You must be particularly cautious about riding close to the curb, crossing at intersections or darting out of driveways or alleys. Always STOP and look both ways before proceeding at such places!

There is a safety slogan that motorists use now which, if kept in mind at all times, will help you to be extremely careful: "DRIVE DEFENSIVELY"....this means drive to PROTECT YOURSELF at all times, no matter what the other drivers are doing! As an example, let's say you are approaching a stop sign at an intersection, and you have already made your stop, but a car is approaching his stop sign on the street coming in from your right. You would naturally ASSUME that he was going to stop for the stop sign facing him. But, what if he doesn't see it due to heavy rain falling? So long as you had made your stop, you would have the RIGHT to go across the intersection, but a SAFE rider should WAIT until he is sure the cars approaching his path of travel are really going to stop! To be positively safe, NEVER ASSUME that the driver of a motor vehicle is going to do what he is supposed to do! NEVER! (99 times out of 100 the drivers around you in cars will follow the rules of safe driving, but it's that ONE time they don't that could cause you to be hit by a car on your bicycle and seriously hurt!

If you are riding your bike in bad weather, or even after dark in good weather, and your bicycle headlight should stop working, NEVER continue to ride in the streets or on the highway! ALWAYS get off your bike and walk it home! Doing this could save your life!

QUESTIONS	Yes	No
A bicyclist should always wear BRIGHT colored clothing when riding after dark or in bad weather, even in the daytime.	—	—
It is always best to turn your headlight on, even in the daytime, if it is raining, snowing or foggy.	—	—
Drivers of motor vehicles always do what they are supposed to do.	—	—
Driving "defensively" means the other drivers have to look out for you.	—	—
You should NOT ride your bike in bad weather, unless it is absolutely necessary.	—	—
If your headlight goes out as you are riding after dark or in bad weather, it is all right to continue riding if you are very careful.	—	—

Highlights and sidelights

Smooth transition seen for reorganization plan

JEFFERSON CITY — "Although the ful effectiveness of the reorganization of Missouri government will not be known for many months, progress is right on target," said Robert James, head of the Missouri Office of Administration.

A new structure for Missouri government was required by a constitutional amendment which voters passed on Aug. 8, 1972.

After intense debate throughout the 1973 legislative session and a subsequent special session, the Missouri House and Senate agreed to the "Omnibus State Reorganization Act of 1974". It becomes effective July 1.

The implementation of the reorganization plan will not come at once, James said, but "will take considerable time. However, we are happy and optimistic as the first major planning deadline -- June 30 -- approaches."

On June 30, two major "paperwork items" -- transfer agreements and departmental plans -- must be in the governor's hands.

Transfer agreements from each of the 87 old governmental units will describe their "personnel, equipment, other property and matters pending" so new department heads will know what they have to work with. "These are more nearly inventories than anything else," James said.

At the same time heads of the 14 new departments must file departmental plans. Reorganization legislation gives the governor discretion to judge these plans. But, because the departments may be reorganized at any time by the department heads, such plans are not ironclad. James said many modifications can be expected.

"Physical consolidation" will follow these planning efforts at varying rates, depending on obstacles faced by each department head. As physical reorganization is completed, there will be two means for judging reorganizational succes, James said.

"First, each Missourian will benefit from improved delivery of services. we hope to reduce the divisive appearance of state government so people will know where to get the services they need with the least effort. This increased performance is hard to measure in dollars."

"Second, as integration of the old agencies is carried out, we will get some idea of monetary savings. It will take some time to consolidate staffs, buildings and materials, of course. However, some efforts, such as in the Department of Public Safety, will be well underway in the next three months," James explained.

The best indications of savings from reorganizations will be in the 1976 budget requests which must be submitted by department heads on Oct. 1.

James declined to predict if these budgets will reflect a reduction in state expenditures through increased efficiency and elimination of duplication brought about by reorganization.

One persistent critic of the reorganization legislation, Sen. A Clifford Jones (R-Brentwood), said, "The original recommendations to the legislature (by the little Hoover Commission) could have saved the taxpayers $30 million.

The legislation which was passed "will, at best, save taxpayers $3.5 million and, at worst, will cost an additional $7.5 million," Jones said.

Control over the budget may be used by legislators to offset their loss of control over internal departmental policies.

Plans which threaten favored programs and patronage employes of the Democratic legislature may be countered by cutbacks in funding. Such tension could hamper reorganizational efforts.

Charles Valier, counsel to Gov. Bond, said, "We don't expect such problems with the legislature. But it would be naive to completely discount them."

Another means of influencing reorganization which the legislature retains is senatorial approval of the governor's appointments to departmental commissions and directorships.

Nominees favoring programs unacceptable to the Democratic legislature may not be confirmed at all or be confirmed only upon reassuring senators that departmental programs will confirm to their wishes.

In addition to legislative scrutiny of budgeting and nominations, reorganization is limited by provisions in the legislation which authorizes it.

Eagleton critical of postal service

"Over 700,000 letters are delivered late in Missouri every day," Sen. Thomas F. Eagleton of St. Louis said last week in a speech before the U. S. Senate.

"Even when taking into consideration the great volumes of mail handled daily by the Postal Service, a half million late letters a day is too much," Eagleton added.

Eagleton asked that a copyrighted article by Ronald Kessler, which appeared in the Washington Post, regarding the U. S. Postal Service be printed in the Congressional Record.

Kessler's article revealed that the people of St. Louis were subjects of an intensive advertising campaign by the U. S. Postal Service.

St. Louis received worse mail service than the rest of the country, but opinions of the Postal Service were higher in St. Louis than in cities with better service that had not been exposed to the advertising,' Eagleton told the Senate.

Eagleton said he finds an advertising campaign to improve the image of the Postal Service an inappropriate expenditure of federal funds.

In May, Eagleton said he conducted a study ofMissouri mails and found many areas of deficiency. And on May 23 he presented his findings to Postmaster General E. T. Klassen.

"My study found that air mail and first class mail posted in Washington, D. C., and received in Missouri take exactly the same transit time," Eagleton said. "Making the public aware of what they are getting for their air mail money would be an appropriate advertising expense by the Postal Service," he added.

Eagleton added that the Postal Service says that 95 per cent of the mails are delivered within the time allowed by "Postal Service standards."

Kessler's article points out that the Postal Service times delivery between the post office postmarking the letter and the post officer receiving the letter, Eagleton told the senators.

"When timing from mail box to front door, as I recently did in my own sutdy in Missouri, service standards were met only 85 per cent of the time," Eagleton said.

Kessler's article reveals a number of other disturbing developments regarding the delivery of the mail, Eagleton said.

Poplar Bluff minister gives kidney to teen-age daughter

ST. LOUIS — A Poplar Bluff Baptist minister, the Rev. Otis Hawes, donated his left kidney to his 15- year-old daughter, Marsha Ann, in transplant surgery performed Monday at St. Louis University's Fimimin Desloge Hospital.

Both father and daughter were reported in good condition.

Miss Hawes, a victim of chronic glonerulo nephritis of both kidneys, had been an outpatient at Cardinal Glennon Memorial Hospital for Children since she was seven years old. Since April she has received kidney dialysis treatments at Desloge.

The transplant operations began at 7 a.m. and were performed by two surgical teams, headed by Dr. John E. Codd, a surgeon, and Dr. John G. Gregory, a neurologist.

Gregory's team removed the father's kidney in a 90-minute opeation. It was then transplanted in a 2½- hour operation.

Miss Hawes will remain at Desloge for several days. If her progress is satisfactory, she will be transferred to Cardinal Glennon Hospital, a hospital spokesman said.

The spokesman said it is hoped Miss Hawes will be able to return home in about three weeks.

Her mother, Dorothy Hawes, accompanied husband and daughter to the hospital. The Haweses' other children are Victor, 17; James, 12; Ronald, 10, and La Rita, 11.

The Rev. Mr. Hawes, 38, is pastor of Alice Street Baptist Church in Poplar Bluff and is also a counselor at the Mingo Job Corps Center at Puxico.

A fund to enable the family to meet medical expenses has been established. Checks may be sent to David Nichols, commerce Bank, Poplar Bluff, Mo. 63901, made out to the Marsha Ann Hawes Kidney Fund.

LEADS SIXTH TIME

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The United States Trotting Assn. reports that Herve Filion of Angers, Que., has led North American harness drivers in victories the past four years, and in money the past six years. The 34-year-old driver piloted his own helicopter for day and night racing and turned in 445 victories in 1973. Horses he drove earned $2,233,302.

In 1972 Filion set a world record with 605 wins in one year.

Prayer for Today

from The Upper Room

"He that loveth me shall be loved of my Father, and I will love him, and will manifest myself to him." (John 14:21) PRAYER: Our Father, we remember Jesus. And as we think of the things He did for us and the things He said, we want to be like Him. We are grateful for His example. Help us to be faithful to His name by the way we live. Amen.

2. Card of Thanks

We wish to express our heartfelt thanks and appreciation to friends, neighbors, relatives, for deeds of kindness, for beautiful flowers, and cards received during our recent loss. In memory of our dear wife and mother.
The L. O. Williams & Family
Lawson, Lila, and Louise

I would like to thank all the people for their thoughfulness, during my illness. I would like to thank the First Baptist Church of Bertrand and all of the other churches for their prayers and flowers, and those who gave blood. Special thanks to Dr. Robins and Dr. Heeb, and all of the staff of the Sikeston Mo. Hospital. You were all so nice.
Thank You Luther Brown.

Firemen called to Greer St.

Firemen were called at 8:30 p.m. Monday to the Danny Eisenhower home, 741 Greer St., when a neighbor spotted smoke coming out of the house.

The house is next door to a fire station.

At 12:39 p.m., firemen were called to 223 Dorothy St. when a car knocked over a gas meter. There was no fire and Associated Natural Gas Co. workmen repaired the meter.

effort to reach the $500 goal, at which time an inscribed plaque is displayed on the outside of the hospital building. At the $1,000 mark, a plaque is displayed on the inside of the hospital. All donations made in Tina's name go toward her goal, although the money is pooled into the hospital fund.

"It's just an incentive for the children," Mrs. Plunk explained. "They look forward to reaching their goals and make every effort to assist in the hospital funding.

"You couldn't ask for a greater hospital and staff," she noted. "The care and consideration of each staff member is appreciated more than we can ever show."

Most people remain skeptical of a cure for leukemia and it's not very often one hears of a child making a complete recovery from the disease, but for 6-year - old Tina Plunk, life ahead looks promising.

With more than 80,000 government employes, Kansas City ranks second only to Washington D.C. as a government employment center.

Sikeston man draws suspended sentence

Gregory Otis Terrell, 113 Pine Oak, was given a one-year suspended jail sentence and placed on supervised probation for two years by Judge Lloyd Briggs during Magistrate Court proceedings this morning in the Sikeston City Courtroom.

Terrell was charged with breaking into the Sikeston Public Schools and stealing personal property on March 29.

On a charge against Terrell of possession of marijuana on April 2, sentencing was deferred until June 17, 1975.

After pleading guilty to a Feb. 2 charge of writing a $25 bad check to Britts Department Store, Jackie Stanley of Portageville was given a 60-day suspended jail sentence and placed on probation for two years.

A charge against Georgia Jackson of Charleston of writing a $38 bad check to Britts Department Store on Oct. 22, 1973, was continued until June 25 to give her time to obtain an attorney.

A case against Jake Hunt was continued until July 9 on a charge of forging a $200 withdrawal slip by signing the name of David L. Bean.

Trial was set on July 16 for Roy Suggs, 118 Fourth St., after he pleaded not guilty to a June 8 charge of possession of marijuana.

The court appointed an attorney to represent Wayne Lee Harris, Route Three, on a charge of breaking into Lambert's Cafe on June 12 and stealing personal property.

After pleading guilty to a nonsupport charge, John LeRoy Marks of Neelyville was given a 30- day suspended jail sentence. He was also ordered to pay $5 per week per child for their support.

A May 29 marijuana possession charge against David Leon Bean, 424 Sunset Drive, was continued until July 2.

The court ordered that probation be continued for Larry Eldon Evans, 320 Greer St., after he appeared in court to show why his probation should not be revoked. He had been charged with nonsupport.

LIQUOR

A new state law going into effect in August authorizes liquor by the drink sales in resorts which are defined as establishments with more than 40 rooms and a restaurant doing more than 60 per cent of its business in food and $100,000 a year in sales.

Drumm told the council he would prepare an ordinance for the next council meeting changing the city codes to be in agreement with the state law. The city does not now allow liquor to be sold by the drink.

Only two establishments in Sikeston are believed affected by the law.

The council decided to charge $450 for the city liquor license to those establishments.

HIGHWAY

Whitlock gave councilmen a copy of a letter he mailed to Lionel Murray, district engineer of the Missouri Highway Department.

The letter urges that interchanges be constructed on Highway 60 at Route AA and Highway 61 and limited access be permitted between these two routes.

The highway department is beginning to formulate plans for widening Highway 60 from Sikeston to Poplar Bluff and possibly closing access routes along the way. City officials fear that if the access routes were closed between Route AA and Highway 61, growth in the southeast part of town would be cut off.

OTHER ACTION

The council agreed to meet with representatives of the Charleston ruban renewal project to find out what it does and how it has worked in Charleston.

The council is considering the possiblitiy of trying again to get public approval for urban renewal in Sikeston.

The council authorized the transfer of $15,000 from the general revenue fund to the park board in the form of a loan.

The council accepted the city's comprehensive plan from the Bootheel Regional Planning Commission.

Ron Yersak of BRPC told the council Sikeston's plan is slightly different than others because it not only identifies existing industrial sites, but also sites for future industrial use. In addition, each of the future sites has a profile of its location and facilities.

The council approved $250 to pay for extra printing costs. The costs were higher than expected because of inflation.

Molton stars

The one-hit pitching of Ryan Construction's Molton highlighted American League games Monday night.

Ryan blanked Righter Trucking 18-0 and First National edged Bridger 2-1 in a pitchers duel.

Green and Bickford collected three hits apiece to lead a 14 hit Ryan barrage. Pool got Righter's only hit of the night.

Smith picked up the win for First National and teamed with Jackson to lead the hitting department with two hits apiece. Eckles had two hits to pace Bridger's five hit attack.

Limbaugh homers

Larry Keller, backed by some outstanding fielding plays, held the Bank of Sikeston scoreless as Davis and Bird breezed to a 11-0 win in Junior Babe Ruth action Monday night. The Eagles rallied in the bottom of the seventh for a 7-6 win over Elliott- Newton in the other league encounter.

Keller fanned eight and walked five while his teammates got him three runs in the first and second innings and ended the game in the sixth with a five run outbreak.

Jeff Limbaugh had a three run homer to highlight the encounter that included a triple by Scott Scherer and a double by Dale Deal.

The Eagles relied on tough defense and clutch hitting to defeat Elliott- Newton, who out- slugged the winners 10-5.

Roger Cloud picked up the win, fanning five and walking three while connecting for a key double in the two-run seventh inning rally.

Eight free bases by the Elliott- Newton pitching staff enabled the Eagles to score some rather easy runs.

Bob Leible led the Eagles five hit attack with a pair of doubles while Butler had three of E&N's 10 hits.

Standard bombs bank

The Sikeston Standard went on a rampage Monday night in Musial League action, pounding out 20 hits and scoring 33 runs to back the one hit pitching of Mike Moore in a 33-0 blanking of the Bank of Sikeston. Kingsway Plaza thumped Rotary 10-4 in the other league game.

Bloemer connected for four doubles and Lambert three to pace the Standard's offensive department. Mark Moore and Bloemer went four for four at the plate. Bohnerl had the Bank's lone hit.

Merrell collected three hits to back the five hit pitching of Davis who also doubled and tripled as Kingsway Plaza booked another win Monday. McGill paced Rotary's hitting with two hits, including a double.

Aaron tops vote

NEW YORK (AP) — Outfielder Hank Aaron, Atlanta's home run champ, leads the voting for the 1974 National League All-Star team with the ballots of about one million baseball fans counted.

Commissioner Bowie Kuhn said Monday Aaron had 484,972 votes in the first two weeks of balloting for the July 23 game in Pittsburgh.

Cincinnati and Los Angeles players became the top NL contenders for all seven other positions in the voting, which ends July 7.

Cincinnati's Johnny Bench topped catchers with 429,447 votes and ranked second to Aaron in the over-all NL totals.

Outfielders Pete Rose of Cininnati was second with 288,854 votes and Jimmy Wynn of Los Angeles third with 224,490. Neither Rose nor Wynn were among last week's top vote-getters.

The other Cincinnati leaders were second baseman Joe Morgan with 251,270 votes and first baseman Tony Perez with 162,133.

Other Los Angeles contenders were third baseman Ron Cey with 219,978 votes and shortstop Bill Russell with 183,952.

Manager Yogi Berra of New York will choose the pitchers.

HARRISONBURG, Va. (AP) — The Florida Blazers cut their roster to 62 players Monday with the release of three rookies during preseason training.

A spokesman for the Orlando entry in the World Football League said the team dropped John Curtis, a tight end from Springfield College; Kenny Lipkins, a corner back from Maryland State-Eastern Shore, and Bill Luhrs, a kicker from the State University of New York.

NOW HEAR THIS!
PRIDE OR GOOD HEARING?

By

Do you know why many persons with hearing problems delay being examined? One reason is that they think a hearing aid is too conspicuous. They allow pride to rob them of a priceless possession.

They fail to realize that their impaired hearing is far more conspicuous. Having to be shouted at is really attention getting!

Do not substitute pride for a chance to hear well again. Do not skip social activities because of hearing problems. Do not neglect church, concerts and the theater because of impaired hearing.

All of these wonderful pleasures could possibly be yours again. Regain that lost confidence today.

If you have any questions concerning your hearing, or have any interesting facts or stories on hearing, please call, visit or write to us

Cards fall to bullpen grad

ST. LOUIS (AP) — The San Francisco Giants have retrieved right-hander Jim Barr from the bullpen at an opportune time in their uphill National League baseball campaign.

The 26-year-old Barr spellbound the St. Louis Cardinals in the role of a starter Monday night and finished with an eight-hit, 3-0 triumph.

Barr's shutout was his second in a row and the triumph only the second for San Francisco its last nine games.

"I threw more curve balls than I did the last time, but basically I'm a fast ball-slider pitcher," he noted.

"In the bullpen you've got to throw strikes," Barr added. "I've been in a lot of 3-and-2 situations. I know there's no margin for error, so I just throw strikes."

Barr, who began the season as a Giants reliever, made 12 appearances in that capacity and had an 0-1 record before cast in the role of starter five times in May.

He emerged with a 1-3 record, took four more turns in relief in drawing to 2-3, then pitched a six-hitter conquering the Chicago Cubs 1-0 as a starter again last week.

Frazier beats quarry in five

NEW YORK (AP) — The fight had been over for about 15 minutes and the 60-year-old referee sat on a bench in Dressing Room 11 at the end of the corridor in Madison Square Garden.

"It was a good fight," said Joe Louis, who once reigned heavyweight boxing as the Brown Bomber. He stuffed his referee shoes—just worn in the Joe Frazier-Jerry Quarry heavyweight bout Monday night—into a small shopping bag.

He had just worked the bout, which he stopped at 1:37 of the fifth round. Frazier had battered Quarry, who was hurting and bleeding from a cut around the left eye.

Earlier in that round Frazier had signaled Louis to halt the bout as Quarry groped and bled from the cut. But Louis disregarded Frazier's plea. Frazier then finished off the Californian.

"The cut wasn't as big as Joe (Frazier) thought it was," said Louis in his quiet manner. "In another half-minute it was bigger and that's why I stopped it."

Today in U.S. History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Tuesday, June 18, the 169th day of 1974. There are 196 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1815, the British and the Prussians defeated Napoleon in the Battle of Waterloo in Belgium.

On this date:

In 1778, in the Revolutionary War, Colonial forces entered Philadelphia as the British withdrew.

In 1812, the United States declared war against Britain.

In 1940, during World War II, the Germans captured the French port of Cherbourg.

In 1953, Egypt was proclaimed a republic, and Premier Mohammed Naguib became the first president.

In 1958, there was a controversy in Washington about gifts received by White House executive assistant Sherman Adams.

In 1961, three princes of Laos, meeting in Zurich, Switzerland, agreed to form a coalition government to unite the war-ridden kingdom.

Ten years ago: The U.S. Supreme Court held unconstitutional a federal statute depriving naturalized citizens of citizenship if they returned to the land of their births for three years.

Five years ago: North Vietnamese forces in South Vietnam attacked two American installations near the Laos and Cambodia borders but were hurled back with heavy losses.

One year ago: The U.S. Senate Watergate committee suspended it hearings for the duration of talks in Washington between President Nixon and Soviet Communist party leader Leonid Brezhnev.

Today's birthdays: Actor and director Richard Boone is 57. Paul McCartney, formerly of the Beatles is 32.

Thought for today: Two things are bad for the heart — running up stairs and running down people — Bernard Baruch.

The case of the shapely ding-a-ling

By JACK STRAUSS, LL.B.

When curvaceous Clara walked down the street, it was language in action. When she began telephoning Mr. Jones at all hours of the day and night, however, Mrs. Jones decided it was time to put an end to the language and to go into action herself.

Insisting that Clara was a ding- a- ling, she went to the telephone company and demanded that they take away her ting- a- ling.

"She's using her telephone to tempt my husband and to break up my marriage," she complained to several officials. "Since the telephone company gave her the phone, it's up to the telephone company to take it back. It's the only way to put a cramp in that vamp."

"Sorry," responded the officials, "but we can't do that. Our function is to provide telephone service and not peace of mind. When we cut someone off, it's never intentional."

Refusing to take "no" for an answer, Mrs. Jones hurried off to court where she demanded that the telephone company be ordered to take away Clara's telephone so as to stop her from making nuisance calls.

IF YOU WERE THE JUDGE, would you order the removal of ding- a- ling Clara's ting- a- ling?

This is how the judge ruled: NO! The judge held that when a telephone customer receives nuisance calls from another customer, the telephone company is under no obligation to the customer receiving the nuisance calls to remove the other customer's telephone.

Women who know say Latin men can't love

ROME (AP) — Foreign women quoted in a book published here Wednesday denied all those tales about great Latin lovers.

Italian men, they said, are poorly suited for the battle of the sexes.

"They are like puppies, not men," said an Austrian woman in the book, "Italsex," by Italian writer Costanzo Costantini.

"It's not true they are good lovers," a Chilean asserted. "They enjoy only the conquest and by the time they come to the physical act they are so tired that they can't do anything more."

The author said the interviews with 20 foreign women, all residents of Italy and all admitting to sex with Italian men, were intended to compare their views with accusations by Italian women that their Latin partners were inept in bed.

Katina meets Danny

Katina Plunk, right, 6- year- old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Plunk of Dexter, met Danny Thomas, founder of St. Jude's Children's Research Hospital in Memphis, Tenn., on one of her recent visits to the hospital. Katina has been battling leukemia for three years and now appears to be cured due to a "miracle drug".

Tests show child cured of leukemia

DEXTER — Katina Plunk, 6 - year - old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Plunk of Dexter, is back home this week following a week's stay in St. Jude's Children's Research Hospital in Memphis, Tenn.

Her parents said Friday that she had recovered swiftly from pneumonia and is now actively pursuing her normal activities.

Tina has leukemia and was scheduled to go off all medication this month for the first time in three years. Mrs. Plunk said Tina is still on medication but tests showed no sign of leukemia.

Born in April 1968, Katina was a normal and exceptionally healthy child until the age of 3 when she became seriously ill, ran a high fever and bruised easily. Her mother took her to a Sikeston physician, who immediately suggested that Katina be taken to St. Jude's Hospital for diagnosis and treatment.

After extensive tests, Mrs. Plunk was told her daughter had leukemia and that she could undergo treatment and therapy at St. Jude's but chances for a cure in such cases were rare.

Katina has been to Memphis once a week ever since her condition was discovered, along with periodic month-long stays.

February 1973 was a month of trial and triumph for the tiny, always smiling Tina. Leukemia victims being high susceptible to virus and infection, Tina caught a cold which developed into pneumonia, (called acute lymphocytic, when it occurs in leukemia victims). She was taken to Memphis where she remained several weeks under close observation. She was administered various types of medication, but all in vain.

Doctors conferred with her parents and presented them a difficult choice. Tina could be administered a recently discovered "miracle drug" which might save her life. Without the drug, they were told she had only 24 to 48 hours to live.

They said the drug had been known to work but it was the strongest possible medication and had failed several times, sometimes even causing worse effects than the pneumonia itself.

"What could we lose," Mrs. Plunk recalls. "I was faced with the choice of standing by and letting her die or taking what little chance there was and giving the go-ahead for the injection. It could have backfired but I couldn't stand by and take away what little chance she had been given."

To the amazement of even the specialists at St. Jude's, Tina made a complete recovery in record time and was home and doing well in two months' time.

The drug which worked so wondrously on Tina has been administered to a total of only seven persons, five of whom died. But Tina goes on, and her doctors tell Mrs. Plunk that if, at the end of the month, she has not developed any further infection, she will be taken off all of her present medication, which includes large doses of several types of drugs.

"What never ceases to amaze the doctors," Mrs. Plunk explains, "even more than her recovery is her understanding of her condition and her overall attitude toward her illness.

"She completely understands what her illness means, Mrs. Plunk added. "She doesn't talk about it, but she is totally aware of all possibilities and she continues to show her always determined faith," her mother stated.

Although doctors cannot accurately estimate Tina's pattern once taken off the medications, it's likely that she will remain more susceptible to infection and virus than the normal child. Her bones are softer and she sustains injury much easier than other children. Her right leg has been broken twice since Christmas, both by only slight impacts. Her cast was removed from the latest break just last week.

Perhaps Tina's greatest triumph will take place this fall when she plans to enter Dexter public schools as a full-time student. She entered kindergarten at Southwest School last year but was forced to discontinue classes when she contracted various infections.

She's looking forward to starting again this year, though, and has decided that summer school now will help her make up for lost time so that she will be able to enter the first grade in the fall with her own age group.

Every 70 days Tina undergoes a series of tests in Memphis. She is given a spinal tap and the bone marrow is closely examined. So far, doctors report that there is no sign of damage. Tina has also been fortunate in sustaining no mental damage as a result of her illness.

Last month Tina received one of the biggest rewards she had hoped for. Danny Thomas, the well- known entertainer and founder of St. Jude's happened to be at the hospital at the time of Tina's last visit and she got to meet him and had her picture made with him, which she proudly displays to all her guests.

On the recent hospital trip Tina presented $163.77 to the hospital fund (St. Jude's is run entirely on donations). She and her brother, Gary Wade, and a sister, Kimberly Wade, went from door to door to collect the money.

The hospital accepts no payment for services, but donations are welcomed.

Tina is making every

Council takes action on trash and burning

The City Council Monday night repealed the city's solid waste ordinance and then voted to redesignate it as a resolution and submit it to the state as Sikeston's plan for solid waste disposal.

The council then asked that the city's present anti-burning law be enforced. The law bans all types of burning except in an approved incinerator.

The council accepted a report calling for a 50-cent rate increase to See-More Cable TV, beginning when a new micro-wave hookup to St. Louis is complete.

A joint school- city indoor swimming pool proposal was brought before the council again

City Attorney Manuel Drumm told the council the city would have to amend its liquor- by- the drink ordinance to comply with the new state law concerning liquor sales at resorts.

GARBAGE

In 1973. the city adopted a solid waste ordinance, and Monday night they repealed it. The ordinance will now become the city's plan for garbage disposal required to be submitted to the state by June 20.

The reason for the maneuver was that councilmen think the ordinance needs changes and that it is easier to change a plan than to amend an ordinance.

The city will seek an additional six months until Jan. 1, 1975 to implement the plan. Under the state law, the plan is supposed to go into effect on July 1. Acting City Manager Bill Whitlock said today he will write a letter to the State Health Department requesting the delay to conduct negotiations with haulers and work out the mechanics of the plan.

BURNING

One thing the city's solid waste disposal law must have, the State Health Department says, is a prohibition against all burning except for leaves and twigs.

Even if the city receives its six- month delay, burning here will end soon.

The council said it wants the city's anti-burning ordinance enforced, and Whitlock said today he anticipates enforcement will begin on July 1.

A prime reason for enforcing the anti-burning ordinance now is to give haulers an opportunity to discover how much equipment they will need to handle the city's garbage after Jan. 1.

The city ordinance bans all open burning except by special permission of the fire department.

The ordinance defines open burning as "any fire where the products of combustion are emitted into the atmosphere and are not directed there by or through a smoke stack, chimney or other vent flue or structure."

In explaning the need to stop the burning now, Mayor Frank Ferrell said that if the burning is not stopped, haulers will not know how much equipment they will need. Then one day the state would step in and order an immediate halt to burning, he said. At the point that happened, the haulers would not have enough equipment to handle the added garbage.

CABLE TV

The council accepted a report suggesting an additional 50 - cent rate hike for See-More Cable TV when the company's micro-wave system is installed. The 50 cents will be on top of a dollar increase already approved for that time, raising See-Mor's rates to $6.50 when the new system becomes operational.

The report was made by a committee of councilmen and Whitlock, who studied the company's financial structure.

See-More officials cited inflation as the primary reason for a rate hike.

The micro-wave hookup, which will bring in three channels from St. Louis, is expected to be operational in a few months.

Drumm will prepare an ordinance for granting the rate hike to present at the next council meeting.

POOL

Ferrell said the joint city - school district indoor swimming pool proposal is being considered again.

Ferrell said he and school board member Phil Barkett, councilman Bill Ryan, planning and zoning commissioner Bob Stearnes and Chamber of Commerce executive director Bill Wellborn recently flew to Columbia to see that city's swimming pool.

Ferrell said the committee is looking to see what kind of federal funds if

Man shot 4 times

Gregory B. Tweedy, 25, of Park Forest, Ill., is listed in serious condition in the intensive care unit at Missouri Delta Community Hospital after allegedly being shot four times early today by his wife.

The shooting occurred at 1:10 a.m. in Room 301 at Holiday Inn.

Police said he was shot four times in the abdomen and both legs with a .38 - caliber revolver allegedly fired by his wife, Catherine Ann, 21.

The shooting reportedly occurred during a quarrel after both had been drinking.

Officers found Tweedy lying on the floor. Tweedy told officers that he had shot himself accidentally.

But police said Mrs. Tweedy kept repeating that she didn't mean to do it.

Mrs. Tweedy was taken into custody for assault with a dangerous and deadly weapon and turned over to the New Madrid County Sheriff's department and was placed in the New Madrid County jail this morning.

Madrid to advertise for waste collection bids

NEW MADRID — A proposal for citywide garbage and solid waste collection was ordered advertised for bids at the City Council meeting Monday night. The proposed service will provide weekly collection for each household and business with a fee for the service being added to the utility bills.

City Administrator Don Lloyd advised the council that engineering bids and estimates for resurfacing streets and construction of storm sewers in the New Town section in the northeast part of the city had been received and that the preliminary cost estimate was $8.06 per property foot to the property owners adjoining the new streets.

A resolution was approved for the immediate advertising of the city'sintent to proceed with construction.

Lloyd reported that negotiations for power sales to the city of Kennett are continuing and that Kennett officials are completing certain necessary arrangements.

Mrs. Elihu Mills was granted temporary permission to park a mobile home behind her home at 719 Mill St. during the illness of her mother.

A board order was made to property owners allowing grass and weeds to grow on vacant lots be given a written notice that they have five days to comply with the city ordinance requiring that they be cut.

Bob Pulliam was named to fill the vacancy on the housing authority board created when Jim Cravens was elected mayor. The appointment is for the balance of a three-year term which expires in December 1975.

A portable stop sign was approved for use during Little League baseball games at the city park on Davis Street.

The need for an ordinance requiring the demolition of derelict houses and buildings was discussed. The board requested model ordinances be obtained for study from the Missouri Municipal League.

A list of election judges was approved for submission to the county clerk for consideration in the special city election to be held July 9 for the election of a city marshal.

Named in ward one were Bonnie Boyd, Elsie Hampton, Margaret Boyd and Carrie Sims; ward two, Carrie Shaver, Ola Lewis, Lucille Parks and Nettie Patterson; and ward three, Mary Meier, Helen Mahew, Algie Phillips and Mary Gaddy.

County collects $10,631

BENTON — Scott County Collector Tom Marshall today reported a total of $10,631.46 was collected in personal, real estate and merchants taxes during May.

Distributions of funds will be as follows:

State, $63.56; county, $960.94; county special road, $527.75; health, $211.91; library, $74.25; Johnson grass, $42.37; and county drainage, $3.87.

Distribution to school districts will include:

Illmo- Scott City R-1, $1,015.01; Chaffee R-2, $721.34; Oran R-3, $292.16; Benton R-4, $394.02; Morley R-5, $977.77; Sikeston R-6, $5,295.45; and Kelso- New Hamburg C-7, $51.06.

Marshall said all taxes not collected are delinquent and will bear a two per cent penalty and six per cent interest if paid during the month of June.

3 charged with possession

Three Sikeston youths were arrested Monday night on charges of possession of marijuana and paraphernalia. They are Ronald Joe Yant, 20, of 312 Selma St., Glen William Greene Jr., 21, of 328 Edmondson Drive and Barbara Mayfield, 18, of 614 N. Kingshighway.

Bond was posted at $800 each for Greene and Miss Mayfield and $300 for Yant. County Prosecutor Jim Moore has filed misdemeanor charges against all three.

State Highway Patrolman Mike Robertson made the arrest at 10:45 p.m. on a sand road off Route U, 8 miles north of Sikeston. Robertson said he saw a car driven by Yant turn onto the sand road and flash its brake lights.

"I knew no one lived down that road, so I decided to investigate," Robertsons said.

The three accused are scheduled to appear in City Court June 25.

Plan commission to meet

The Planning and Zoning Commission will meet at 7:30 p.m. today in the City Administrative Building.

The agenda will include a request from Frisco Railroad for the closing of the Maude Street crossing in order to open a Wakefield street crossing.

A request for the closing of two blocks of Frisco Street between Ruth and Kendall streets will also be considered.

The commission will also hear a request by property owners to rename Linda Drive as Windsor Drive.

Dexter council rejects petition

DEXTER — The City Council Monday night rejected a petition asking that a special election be held to decide whether or not the city should have city manager form of government.

The six aldermen voted to reject the petition by a 4 - 2 margin as follows: Aldermen James Williams, Cecil Day, Eldon Cooper and James Curtis voted not to accept the petition, and Aldermen Jack Smarr and Doren Vancil voted in favor of acceptance.

Mayor Willis Conner told the aldermen prior to the voting that the petition contained 396 signatures and was examined carefully by all of the aldermen except Curtis, who was not available at the time. He said they found that 144 of the signers were not registered voters. Also, he said names of persons who have died or moved from the city and signers who live outside the city limits were discounted.

Several persons signed the petition more than one time and the aldermen discounted multiple signatures.

After these names were removed, Conner said it did not appear that there was a sufficient number of signers for the mayor to call a election. However, Conner requested that the aldermen pass a resolution to either accept or reject the petition.

Following the vote, Conner further stated that he is not against hiring professional help if neededd but is against a city manager form of government at this time.

He said that within the next 60 to 90 days he will appoint a citizens committee to study different forms of city government and asked that a study be made of guidelines for future petions.

The council decided to make a study of such guidelines and report the findings at the July 1 meeting.

The council then passed an ordinance, prepared by the Missouri Municipal League with minor changes, authorizing the city to tear down dangerous or unsightly buildings after the owners fail to tear down such buildings or make necessary repairs.

All complaints regarding such buildings will be brought before the mayor since Dexter has no city engineer. A hearing will then be held by the council before any action may be taken.

If property owners cannot be located, a notice will be run in the local newspapers. The mayor will have the right to obtain professional help, if necessary.

The council accepted a bid of $3,364 from Medler-Davis Chevrolet Inc. for a new police car. The price includes trade- in of a 1972 model. This was the only bid received.

The city will advertise for bids for three new trucks to be used by the street department.

Joyce Hodder and Carl Davis were appointed to the library board to replace T. S. Hill and Naomi Jibben who have served for several years.

In answer to several inquiries about the city's bicycle ordinance, the council announced that an ordinance does exist but applies to sidewalk riding in the downtown business areas only.

In other action, the council voted to erect a no parking sign in the alley located near the old jail, passed an ordinance to blacktop Truitt Street and the extreme north and south ends of Walnut Street and passed a resolution to allow Henry McCarty to buy water form the city provided he use four- inch water lines to the master meter.

The fire department will set fire to and burn the remainder of a house owned by Virgil Mace which was partially destroyed in a previous fire. The house will be burned tonight with the owner's consent.

The council asked the street department to begin maintaining the grounds around the new fire station and jail.

An ordinance was passed calling for special tax bills to be issued for the paving of Poplar and South Bain streets.

A letter written by Max R. Miller of Sikeston to Mayor Conner was read to the council by Alderman Smarr. The letter commended Conner and the city of Dexter for an outstanding city government.

THE SAD SAGA
OF PATRICIA HEARST

Five months following the kidnapping of Patricia Hearst by the communist guerilla gang, the "Symbionese Liberation Army," it was confirmed by law enforcement officials: Miss Hearst was wanted as a willing participant in a number of violent and vicious crimes.

Missed in the news is the fact that at least two anti-communist experts, many weeks before, had predicted (with great accuracy, as it has turned out) that Miss Hearst had indeed been "brainwashed" and was not, as commonly believed at the time, an unwilling accomplice.

In early April, Dr. Fred Schwarz, President of the Christian Anti- Communism Crusade of Long Beach, California, described the brainwashing process by which Patricia Hearst was transformed into a member of the Symboionese Liberation Army and further predicted: "She could be given some difficult and criminal task to test her and make her burn her bridges."

Within the week after Dr. Schwarz wrote his prediction, Miss Hearst, holding an automatic rifle in her hands, robbed a bank with other members of the S.L.A.

Mr. Edward Hunter, Editor and Publisher of Tactics, a "monthly Psywar Jounral" (Arlington, Virginia) appeared on an NBC television "talk show' in April and also emphatically maintained that Miss Hearst had indeed been brainwashed. Dubious, the moderator of the TV show asked: "Yes, but in 60 days, can that process work?"

Patiently, Hunter explained that "brainwashing is composed of two processes: a softening up process and an indoctrination process ... she was softened up before she was ever captured. In other words, it was not a matter of 60 days. It was a matter of several years, plus 60 days. She was indoctrinated before capture ... at Berkeley."

Hunter, of course, is not the first to warn of the disastrous effects imposed upon our youth through slanted textbooks commonly found in public schools today through "hate - America" messages constantly repeated in some segments of the academic community; and of the extreme, radical, violence-prone elements to be found in such leading institutions as the University of California at Berkeley; except that most Americans seriously underestimate the impact of such pro-communist, anti-American influences upon our youth.

Both Dr. Schwarz and Mr. Hunter were right; Miss Hearst had indeed been brainwashed. But the important fact is that the "brainwashing" had already begun long before she was kidnapped; it was relatively easy, therefore, for the S.L.A. to bring her the rest of the way.

NIXON BEFORE
SUPREME COURT

Special Prosecutor Leon Jaworski has succeeded in bringing a protesting President Nixon before the U. S. Supreme Court to test the President's executive privilege claims. When the history of the Watergate affair is written, Jaworski's decision to take the issue to the high court and the court's decision to rule may have the most enduring significance.

Nowhere in the Constitution is there a specific grant of presidential authority to withhold information from Congress or the courts. The judiciarynever has presicely defined such authority. Presidents have used the ambiguity and the executive power vested in the presidency to carve out an "executive privilege" that has varied with the officeholder.

During President Nixon's tenure, the definition of executive privilege has seemed to shift daily, depending on the tactical situation. One of the President's attorneys general, Richard Kleindienst, went so far last year as to tell Congress, "Your power to get what the President knows is in the President's hands."

The absolute privilege asserted by Kleindienst would permit Congress to call witnesses and obtain information from executive agencies only if the President approved. Kleindienst said that if Congress disapproves the way a president asserts executive privilege, the remedy is impeachment.

The Nixon administration subsequently backed away from Kleindienst's hard line, but the transcripts of White House conversations make it evident that executive privilege figures heavily in the administration's defense strategy. The "scenarios" discussed by the President and his aides contained numerous references to how executive privilege could be invoked to prevent disclosure of the Watergate cover-up.

The U. S. Supreme Court is to be commended for agreeing to tackle the "separation of powers" dispute between the special prosecutor and the President over Watergate evidence, his is a thorny question the high court could have ducked by declaring the Court of Appeals should rule first. The President might not have appealed to the Supreme Court if he lost in the appeals court.

It does not follow, however, that the high court now will define the boundaries of executive privilege. The court usually avoids rulings which mark out new constitutional interpretations if it can. The court in this case could find that the President waived executive privilege when he made evidence available to indict the Watergate cover-up defendants and now cannot invoke it to prevent evidence from being used at the trial.

The President said last year he would obey a "definitive" ruling by the Supreme Court on his power to withhold evidence. The President's press spokesman is unwilling to say whether the promise still holds.

It should be unnecessary to seek reaffirmation, just as it should have been unnecessary for the President to state his willingness to abide by a high court ruling. It goes without saying that the nation's chief law enforcement officer obeys the law as interpreted by the courts. The day the President ignores a Supreme Court ruling is the day the nation moves down the road to tyranny.

'THE $100
MILLION PAYOFF"

Explosive evidence detailing how organized labor has illegally poured millions of dollars in compulsory union dues into Democratic congressional campaigns -- often with the knowledge and even solicitation of prominent Democrats -- was presented recently in a controversial new book.

"The $100 Million Payoff: How Big Labor Buys Its Democrats," written by Douglas Caddy, lays bare in meticulous detail how the AFL—CIO, its affiliates and their political action committees have apparently flagrantly violated the Federal Corrupt Practices Act using tax- exempt union dues for partisan political activities.

Caddy charges in the book that not only should the labor bosses involved -- from the top down -- be prosecuted, but that Democratic senators and congressmen who sought, accepted and used labor's resources in their campaigns, knowing it was paid for by union dues, should also be tried and convicted.

To build his case that both the unions and many of the Democratic officeholders they serve are -- and have long been -- guilty of illegal campaign financing, Caddy spent moths digging through confidential union documents. His book brings together the most damaging evidence yet uncovered about corrupt union activites.

Charging that the Justice Department is "too easily influenced and pressured to mount an effective investigation into union political corruption," Caddy proposes that a special prosecutor be appointed to root out the corruption and to prosecute the guiltv.

Working under a grant from the Center for the Public Interest of the Robert M. Schuchman Memorial Foundation Inc., Caddy was able to examine previously undisclosed union memos and documents as a result of a court action brought by dissident union members against the International Association of Machinists and Aerospace Workers (IAM) and its political arm, the Machinists Non- Partisan Political League (MNPL). The case, still being pursued in the courts, resulted in the union files being opened to the public.

The files contain letters and memos from top union officials as well as from prominent Democratic members of Congress which proved to Caddy "beyond a reasonable doubt" that:

"To a great degree, the funds supporting organized labor's political activities come from the dues paid by union members, most of whom are under compulsory unionism contracts, and that those funds are committed to partisan political purposes without regard to the normally conflicting sentiments, loyalities and wishes prevailing among union members."

The Corrupt Practices Act -- under which illegal corporate contributions to President Nixon's re-election campaign have been rightly prosecuted -- declares:

"It is unlawful for ... any labor organization to make a contribution or expenditure in connection with any election at which presidential and vice presidential electors or a senator or representative in ... Congress are voted for, or in connection with any primary election or political convention or caucus held for any of the foregoing offices, or for any candidate, political committee, or other person to accept and receive any contribution prohibited by this section."

The major point exhaustively buttressed by the evidence in Caddy's book is that unions are "flagrantly violating" this law, often by their cash contributions from union treasuries, but even more massively in the services they provide in behalf of Democratic candidates.

Caddy says it is the expenditure of union dues for such services -- to pay the salaries of labor officials assigned to campaigns for months on end, the printing of campaign literature, the use of union computers for mass mailings, massive get- out- the - vote telephone banks, postate, Democratic voter registration drives, and use of trucks and other equipment -- which mount into the tens of millions of dollars and all but dward the far smaller, though equally illegal, corporate contributions of 1972.

He contends that labor shoveled well over $50 million -- both in cash and in services -- into Democratic coffers in 1972. And he predicts that in this fall's congressional races the AFL—CIO'S 50,000 locals and their political arm, the Committee on Political Education, will provide at least another $50 million to make George Meany's dream come true: a "veto-proof" Democratic Congress.

IDENTITY CRISIS

A conservative gentleman agreed to present the awards at the annual high school athletic banquet. When he arrived he was outraged at the general appearance of the teenagers in the crowd. "You can't tell what they are anymore," he complained to a bystander. "Look at that one over there, with hair down to his shoulders. From the one with the close- cropped hair, smoking a cigarette, is it a boy or a girl?"

"It's a girl," snapped the bystander, "and she happens to be my daughter."

"I'm sorry, sir," stuttered the visibly embarrassed man. "I never dreamed you were her father."

"I'm not," came the heated response. "I'm her mother."

ENERGY CRUNCH
IS LIFE—SAVER

The good news is that 1,000 fewer persons died in traffic accidents in 1973 than in 1972, according to the National Safety Council.

The council credits reduced speed limits and the shortage of gasoline for the "spectacular" reduction.

The bad news is that there were still 55,600 traffic fatalities last year compared with the 56,600 in 1972, a two per cent reduction.

Speed reductions, according to Council statisticians, played an important role in low fatality total.

BALANCED BUDGET
PROPOSED

Sen. Carl Curtis of Nebraska and Congressman Floyd Spence of South Carolina have shown that they are willing to act to lower government spending as well as talk about it. They have proposed a constitutional amendment which would require a balanced federal budget. Such an amendment would bring an end to deficit spending, with its constant and growing burden of increased taxes and inflation on the hard-working citizen.

Such an amendment would make Congressmen think twice before introducing expensive new spending programs. Without deficit spending to hide behind, these programs would require higher taxes. Voters would have a much clearer idea where these higher taxes came from and would be inclined to vote against the Congressmen responsible for them.

Of course, such an amendment does not have a very good chance of passing Congress. Said Sen. Curtis : "Congress is not going to enact such a proposal unless the people demand it."

If millions of citizens did demand it, Congress wouldn't be able to ignore the amendment. As a first step in mobilizing citizen support, the Oklahoma State Legislature has passed a resolution memorializing Congress to enact the Curtis-Spence amendment.

Said the Oklahoma resolution: "Deficit spending by the federal government has been a plague to this nation for over a third of a century and both the legislative and executive branches have repeatedly demonstrated unwillingness to stand against political pressures to spend against their means." Support for this amendment would be a good topic for letters to the editor. It is time for the people to let Congress know that their government should not live beyond its means. HLH.

Hijacking A City? Probes Disclose Atomic Bomb Material Shipped Across U.S. in Unguarded Trucks

WASHINGTON — There is a weird and hallucinatory effort by some clergy and bereaved parents to martyrize the dead of at least one Symbionese Liberation Army cadre. But Atomic Energy Commission scientists and intensely skilled counterintelligence specialists view this "subculture" more objectively.

In the SLA and some 20 to 25 other such terrorist bands the federal investigators -- and a number of scholars -- see the danger of a nuclear kidnaping. A huge factory or an entire community could be held as hostage by a band holding a simplistic but "effective" implosion bomb.

Since even classified reports on the danger now have been exposed, time is for blunt talking.

This isn't a television script with the sudden solution in the final two minutes before the commercial. Sometime ago this column reported the vulnerability of supposedly well- protected plants to the theft of SNM (special nuclear material). Three such plants were described. Now it can be reported that the sloppy security existed at three installations producing secret submarine reactors. It develops this was as much a secret as Dick Nixon's Cairo visit.

Now it is learned that the weakest link in what is supposedly a protective network around supplies of specialized uranium and plutonium (atomic bomb ingredients) is in the transportation of this SNM.

The Atomic Energy Commission doesn't run its own transport operation. It counts on private contractors. Any truck driver could be hired. There are no name checks. There have been no guards, few inventory checks and fewer efficiency reports. Yet enough SNM can be shipped in one van to make several bombs.

Thus investigators have been disturbed by the ease of what they call a "diversion" of SNM material. In recent years there have been well over 1,000 shipments of this atomic bomb fuel -- though a valise full could provide the implosion ingredients.

These shipments go by air, ship and train as well as truck. But the latter is the weakest link in AEC "transit" of SNM. A recent probe of the insouciant handling of nuclear explosives discloses how three such shipments were transported.

Shipment A contained 82 kilograms (180 pounds) of highly enriched uranium. It rolled over more than 200 miles of open road. The SNM was carried on a flatbed truck. The cargo compartment was open. The van had no alarm or communications equipment.

The truck driver was alone -- and unarmed. He had no preplanned routing so he could be checked. He just ambled along his own route. There were no periodic call- in points to inform the shipper or receiver of the truck's location. Or to confirm that he hadn't run into difficulties.

Shipment B: This contained 144 kilograms of highly enriched uranium. This one went 250 miles. The carrier was a "van- type truck." It too wasn't equipped with any communications equipment or alarm devices. This truck driver also was alone and unarmed. And "the seals used on the shipping containers could be easily duplicated thus defeating the purpose of the seals, which was to detect unauthorized tampering."

Shipment C: Here some 48 kilograms of highly enriched uranium went over 400 miles. It got to a large airport terminal. The report says: "The material was shipped in portable containers (which could be carried by one individual ...). At the airport the material was stacked on a dolly in an open bay area. No special security measures were taken to protect the material while at the airport."

These reports indicate less concern over shipmen of bomb ingredients -- radioactive material -- than is shown over the shipments of ladies' garments in New York City's rag jungle.

There has been some recent tightening of security -- in the bloody wake of the SLA-Zebra type terror. there are more armed guards around the truck and air terminals. Guards at some nuclear power plants now carry guns. There actually is some effort to check the truck drivers. There is a more careful surveying of those ordering and supposedly authorized to receive shipments.

But there has been no crash program.

Yet a study of AEC internal security, ordered by the Commission itself, shows wide open gaps and the haunting fear of SNM hijacking. The study was made by a committee of three scientists and two law enforcement agents recently. And they warned that "we feel that the danger is large and growing ... (there is) increasing dissemination" of precise instructions on atomic bomb making.

The "increasing professional skill, intelligence networks, finances and level of armaments of terrorist groups throughout the world" combine to make a clear and present danger, said the committee.

Time has come for tightening up. Or the next band of "martyrs" may go up in a more radioactive smoke. And part of the neighborhood with it.

WRITE YOUR OWN COLUMN

WASHINGTON — The mailman keeps coming in every day delivering letters which indicate the country is polarizing on the impeachment issue. The Nixon supporters blame the whole thing on the press. The Nixon detractors say the press hasn't been tough enough. What to do?

As someone who is always trying to please everyone, I believe I have a solution. I got it from the "inaudibles" on the presidential tapes. This column is the first one printed in a newspaper which will take care of both the pro- Nixon and anti- Nixon forces. You fill in the blanks any way you want to, which should satisfy everyone's desire for fairness.

Richard M. Nixon is probably the greatest ---------- in American history. He began his political life as a -------- . When he was senator, Dwight Eisenhower chose him to be his Vice President. After working with Mr. Nixon for several years Eisenhower thought he was ---------.

Mr. Nixon ran for governor of California in 1962. When he was defeated he vowed he would --------. In 1967 he ran for President of the United States on the Republican ticket. At that time he promosed the American people to -------- and -------- and --------. After being elected President he was able to -------- and -------- and --------.

In 1971 President Nixon decided to run again. To assure his re- election he told his staff to --------. The staff, determined to show their loyalty to the President, took off after the Democratic hopefuls by --------. They went so far as to --------.

Mr. Nixon was -------- of what they were doing.

The organization set up to make sure Mr. Nixon would win was the Committee for the Re- Election of the President. It raised $ ------ million. Some of this money was given by ------, some of it came from ------ and a lot of it was raised in cash by ------.

At this point in time, five men were arrested breaking into Democratic headquarters at the Watergage. When President Nixon heard about it on ------ he was ------.

The Watergate break-in led to a series of investigations by the FBI, the Senate and a federal grand jury. When the results of these investigations were brought to the President's attention he immediately ------. Then he ------ with members of his staff.

Conflicting testimony by members of the White House staff led eventually to an impeachment inquiry by the House. The key evidence, as it turned out, did not come from John Dean, who is a ------, but from tapes of conversations between the President and his staff. The President said these tapes were ------, but the special prosecutor and the House Judiciary Committee said they were ------.

Under great pressure, the White House finally released transcripts of the tapes which showed the President to be ------ in the Watergate affair. They also indicated that President Nixon was a man of ------ character.

The President's lawyers announced that they would not provide any further evidence for the impeachment proceedings. This has led some people to think the President is ------ and other people think he is ------.

There is no doubt in anybody's mind that the President will be found ------ of the charges made against him.

In any case we can expect the ------ media to ------ President Nixon until the issue is resolved.

Now if this column doesn't satisfy (ital) everyone (unital), then I'm going to Paris.

JACK ANDERSON SAYS: Senators Fiddle While Voters Burn

WASHINGTON — Throughout the Senate side of the Capitol, the three- bell alarm clamored urgently, summoning senators to the chamber. Into the great oval, its antique desks arranged in a graceful arc, they shuffled.

After answering to their names, some barged off again with the harried looks of men having more important duties. Others lingered on waiting for the debate to begin.

Many profound issues cried for Senate attention: impeachment, detente, inflation, the energy crisis.

The two opposing senators shifted nervously on their feet as they braced for another test in the world's foremost forensic arena. There was Sen. John Tower, R-Tex., sandy-faced, his short, husky stature giving him the appearance of a larger man standing in a well. A few desks away was Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., a look of stern amiability upon his familiar face.

For the next several minutes, Goldwater and Tower solemnly debated the merits of Arizona vs. Texas chili beans. They agreed to settle their differences in the way of the West, with a chilli cook-off.

The scene was not at all uncommon. With the government in crisis, the people's elected representatives often pre- empt the floors of Congress to embark upon excursions into triviality.

Most of the time, it is true, they are engrossed in weightier matters, and perhaps a little comic relief should be welcome. But day after day, they pause from the momentous problems of our times to honor the winner of a local talent contest or to proclaim Future Homemakers of America Week.

They fiddle while the voters burn.

Congress still hasn't completed its work on campaign reforms, which would help clean up politics and prevent future Watergates from happening. Congress is also dawdling over reorganizational reforms, which would put its own houses in order. Yet the members found time for such antics as these:

-- On a mad March morning, the House devoted almost its entire morning session to thunderous oratory over actress Jane Fonda's request for the use of a House hearing room. No less than 25 congressmen, with a great exercising of lungs, joined in the polemics. Others who missed the chance to declaim kept the debate going for two more days. Yet the issue was altogether moot, for the actress already had conducted her seminar in the hearing room several weeks earlier.

--The day after May Day, Rep. Ed Derwinski, R-Ill., solemnly rose to his feet to commemorate Constitution Day in Poland. Not to be outdone in their fealty to their Polish constituents, a score or more congressmen scrabbled like spawning salmon for the House microphones to add their praise of Poland.

-- It is part of the daily routine for members to wish one another a happy birthday, to congratulate one another on a new honor or, for no apparent reason at all, to adorn one another with complimentary verbiage during public sessions. No issue before the Congress, no matter how urgent, is permitted to interfere with the political backslapping and backscratching.

-- Accolades are also bestowed, willy nilly, upon random constituents. Sen. J. Glenn Beall Jr., R-Md., interrupted the Senate proceedings, for example, to inform his colleagues glowingly that his high school coach was retiring. Rep. Mendel Davis, D-S.C., brought to the attention of the House some essays written by school children back home. And a friend of ours, Rep. Claude Pepper, D- Fla., provided the House with a splendid account of what occurred at a luncheon we helped sponsor.

The droning, out- of- context oratory on the Senate and House floors, of course, isn't always a true reflection of the real workings of Congress. Individually, the average congressman puts in a 16- hour workday. He usually gives his constituents conscientious service.

But collectively, Congress remains hopelessly cumbersome. The seniority system holds back the brightest young men, whose leadership is needed in this swift- moving time.

The old men who run Congress, honorably though they may have served in the past, are placing an intolerable brake on the law- making machinery of the national government, already in desperate need of overhaul.

Never has the need of reforms been more urgent. But the members of Congress appear to be more interested in chili beans, Jane Fonda and school children's essays.

PARK IMPROVEMENT? Tourists are told that the profits from the sale of postcards, booklets and other mementos at national parks are spent on park improvement.

Never mentioned is that the National Parks Service demands 1½ per cent of the profits, which is euphemistically called a "donation," for a special entertainment fund.

The purchasing public isn't told that their souvenir dollars help pay for parties for the bigwigs.

Local men injured in accident

Seven persons, including two Sikeston men, received minor injuries in three area traffic accidents Monday, according to the highway patrol.

Donnell Dewitt and Lee Page of Sikeston received minor injuries at 12:25 p.m. on a sand road north of Diehlstadt when their west bound car was struck by a truck driven east by John Merrick, 25, of Bertrand.

Merrick's truck was on the wrong side of the road, a spokesman for the patrol said today.

Both men were taken to Missouri Delta Community Hospital in Sikeston.

Three persons were injured at 3 p.m. on Highway 72 at Millersville when a car driven by Larry Campbell, 25, of Millersville rounded a curve at a high rate of speed and ran off the road.

Campbell was not injured, but three passengers, James Edward Walker, 18, Jimmy Lee Bell, 24, and James Edward Merriweather, 16, of Cape Girardeau, suffered minor injuries.

They were taken to Southeast Missouri Hospital in Cape Girardeau.

A two-vehicle accident at 10:10 a.m. on Route T four miles west of Perryville resulted in two minor injuries.

The accident occurred when an eastbound car driven by Hubert F. French, 71, of Perryville ran into the back of a jeep parked partially on the road and occupied by Gottfried Leo Meyer, 67, of Perryville.

French and his wife, Inez J. French, 69, were taken to Perry County Memorial Hospital in Perryville.

4-H plans talent contest

Scott County 4-H Council will sponsor its annual Share-The-Fun talent and amateur contest Friday at 7:30 p.m. in the Sikeston Activity Center auditorium.

Individual and group acts of both talent and amateur classifications are invited to participate. Any youth aged 6-20 living in the surrounding area may participate in the contest.

Prize money will be awarded, however, only to entrants currently enrolled in Scott County 4-H programs. All entrants will be awarded participation place ribbons.

Roy Strong, a representative of the Mid-South Fair Association, will be present to announce a winner to appear in the Youth Talent Contest to be held in Memphis, Tenn., Sept. 20—28.

To be eligible for this preliminary selection, an entrant may be either talent or amateur, but must be between the ages of 10 and 20- years old and must not use batons or machetes as part of their act. Strong also may issue additional invitations after Sept. 1 to entrants from this contest.

Anyone interested in participating in this amateur-talent contest should contact Mrs. Peter Myers by phone at 472-0678 by Thursday.

Convocation set June 29

OAK RIDGE — The Mystic Tie Lodge No. 221 AF & AM is sponsoring an outdoor convocation June 29 on Whitewater River near Bakers Mill.

All master Masons, their families and friends are invited to the convocation. A picnic dinner of kettle-cooked beef and other food dishes will be served beginning at 4 p.m. Water sports lovers are invited to come before 4 p.m. for boating, swimming and fishing in the river.

After dinner, all master masons will board hay wagons drawn by tractors to an area located between two hills where lodge will be opened in the third degree. At this time, a candidate will be raised to the sublime degree of master Mason.

All activities will be over by the close of the day.

2 arrested

Police today announced the arrest of Harry George Menken Jr., 627 E. Gladys St., for allowing a dog to bark at night and Juan G. Bernal of Corpus Christi, Tex., for driving while intoxicated.

HOW MUCH HOT WATER?

One of the items frequently overlooked when remodeling or buying a new home, is the capacity of the hot water heater. First notice of this oversight normally is discovered while under a hot shower when it turns ice cold prematurely. But, then it is too late. So, here's a short course on the subject.

The capacity of storage water heaters is rated in two ways and is usually imprinted on the nameplate of the tank. One number tells you the capacity of the tank, and the other number shows the recovery rate per hour. The sum of the two numbers gives you the number of gallons of hot water a tank can supply in one hour.

A tank of 50 gallons capacity with a recovery rate of 40 gallons will supply 90 gallons an hour which should be plenty for a family of five in a home with two baths and an automatic dishwasher and clotheswasher. A family of four without the dishwasher should be able to get by on a 30 or 40 gallon tank with 30 gallon recovery.

(Editor's Note: Mr. Mitchell is Past President of the Sikeston Board of Realtors and is currently serving as Vice- President of the Missouri Association of Realtors.)

Ann Landers

Person who induces hiccups or belches needs 'attention'

Dear Ann Landers: Recently you printed a letter about a kid who got to be the center of attention by getting the hiccups during study period or in a movie -- wherever it happened to be quiet and he could start an uproar. The question was: Can a person give himself hiccups at will? You said yes, some people can if they work at it.

Now I have the same question about belchers. My cousin, who is my age (17), gets lots of laughs with his loud belches. He denies he does it on purpose, but I don't believe him. His timing is too good to be accidental.

Will you please give me your answer in the paper? Several of us are suspicious -- Kinky's Questioners

Dear Qester: Belching is caused by swallowing air and it's not a difficult trick to master. That kid must feel terribly inadequate if the only way he can get people to notice him is to belch. I feel sorry for him.

Dear Ann Landers: Someone raised the question, "Where does an eligible widower or divorced man meet a woman worth marrying?" Answer: A desirable man doesn't have to go anyplace. The day he loses his mate (either in the divorce court or by death), someone at his office, store, country club or a friend of a friend is right there to grab him so fast he doesn't have a chance to go anyplace or join anything new.

Of course he loves the attention, even though he is somewhat in a state of shock. What bothers him most is the fear of being lonesome. But he really needn't worry because he never gets the chance

I am not a very aggressive person, so I've lost out on several promising prospects, but I'm learning. It doesn't pay to be reserved where eligible widowers or divorced men are concerned. The girl who is fleet of foot and quick to hop in is sure to win. - Dumb Cluck Who Is Smartening Up

Dear Cluck: It sounds as if you have the situation well sized up. Let me hear from you a year from today.

Dear Ann Landers: As a bachelor in his 40s, I would like to reply to the letter from the 39- year- old woman who believes she has so much to offer, but can't find a decent man too offer it to.

Dear Lady: I have been to adult- education classes, church groups, concerts craft groups, dances, company parties, summer and winter resorts -- everyplace you can think of. I saw you several times and I'm sure you saw me, but you turned away and I wasn't surprised. MOST women do. You see, I am not a handsome chap or a flashy dresser, a divine dancer, a fast talker or big spender. I kept trying in spite of your rebuffs, but after a while, I gave up.

You are looking for the perfect man, and he always happens to be someone's husband. Why not be realistic? At your age the only men left are the rejects or the opportunists. Your problem is not the places you've been going to, but your priorities.

Don't bother looking for me anymore. I'll be at home with a good book -- not completely satisfied but a lot less frustrated. -- H. G. of Wis.

Dear H. G.: Thanks for a good letter. It can be addressed to the bachelors who complain that there are no decent women around, and be equally valid.

Do you feel awkward, self-conscious -- lonely? Welcome to the club. There's help for you in Ann Landers' booklet, "The Key to Popularity." Send 35 cent in coin with your request and a long, stamped, self- addressed envelope to Ann Landers, P. O. Box 3346, Chicago, Illinois 60654.

USDA sets minimum grades for avocados

WASHINGTON, D. C. — Minimum grade and maturity requirements for Florida avocados marketed under a federal marketing agreement and order program has been issued by the U. S. Department of Agriculture (USDA) and became effective Monday. Avocado imports will be subject under federal law to comparable grade and maturity regulations beginning June 24.

The requirements are essentially the same as those effective during the 1973-74 season. Previously issued domestic and import regulations expired April 30.

USDA's Agricultural Marketing Service (AMS) said the regulations require avocados to grade at least U, S, No. 3, which means they must be mature but not overripe, not badly misshapen and free from decay and serious damage.

Maturity requirements -- based upon minimum weights or diameters for specified types of avocados -- will be adjusted automatically during the marketing season. This reflects the fact that as the season progresses the fruit matures at smaller sizes.

The Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act requires that imports of certain commodities, including avocados, must meet the same or comparable requirements as those imposed on domestic commodities regulated under a federal marketing order.

AMS officials said the regulations are intended to help producers in the orderly marketing of this year's crop, while providing consumers a plentiful supply of acceptable quality avocados. The requirements would help keep immature and defective fruit off the market. Officials explained that immature fruit will not ripen satisfactorily and will be unacceptable in taste.

The new regulations were published in the Federal Register June 14 and 17.

Copies are being mailed to importers, custom officials and other interested persons. Copies are also available from the Fruit and Vegetable Division, Agricultural Marketing Service, U. S. Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C. 20250.

Area girls attend state FHA meeting in Columbia

On May 30, Region 6 FHA officers, delegates and their advisors boarded a bus in Cape Girardeau bound for University of Missouri-Columbia. Approximately 40 girls attended the state meeting of the Missouri Association of the Future Homemakers of America from the schools in the surrounding area.

The theme of this year's session was "FHA — Our World and Welcome To It". The girls stayed at Schurz-Hatch Hall, a dormitory on the campus.

The girls attended four general sessions in the Jesse Hall auditorium, featuring Ken White, executive secretary of the Bicentennial Commission of Missouri, as one of the speakers. "Encounter Growth Through FHA" was presented by Debi Hegi of Missouri and Suzanne Luhl of Minnesota, former National FHA officer.

The regional officers and their delegates attended several meetings. One of the highlights were the bylaws hearings, where revisions of the FHA state constition were discussed.

Another was "Impact '74", where the girls discussed the use of FHA resources in their chapters. The objective of FHA is to help individuals improve personal, family and community living.

Ginny Minich of Alton, Mo., was elected Missouri's national officer candidate and Susan Kroeger of Centralia was elected national committee member.

The Region 6 officers also made plans for the regional workshop to be held in August and the regional meeting to be held in November.

The 1974 state meeting adjourned on June 1 and the girls journeyed for home with a better understanding of FHA and its purpose, hoping to present new ideas to their local chapters.

The 1974-75 Region 6 officers: Dotta Shell of Lutesville, president; Debbie Patterson of Oran, first vice president; Donna Thorn of Oran, second vice president Cheryl Johnson of Matthews, secretary; Daronda Lewis of Bell City, treasurer Ronnie Delle Wolf of Matthews, historian; Denise Schlosser of Kelly, reporter; Barbara Jackson of Bloomfield, recreational leader; Joyce Stroup of Kelly, song leader; Vickie Drew of Chaffee, parliamentarian; Cindy Duncan of Chaffee, devotional leader Tricie Johnson of Matthews, state representative; Margaret Rahm of Lutesville, regional advisor.

Eatons to mark 50th anniversary

Members of the Monroe McIntyre family of Sikeston met for their annual family reunion June 2 at the Dexter City Park. Four generations of the family were present.

Attending were:

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Alford, Mrs. Barbara McIntyre and Connie, Darlene and Ronnie and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Evans and Melinda of Morehouse.

Mr. and Mrs. George Smith and Janice and William, Mr. and Mrs. Janus Wilson and Debra, Ginger and Rob, Mr. and Mrs. Arles McIntyre and Chuck and Sherrie, George Smith Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Ellison and Jimmy Jr. and Jason, Mrs. Mary Crone and Alden Jr. and Locky Phifer of Sikeston.

Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Harris and David, Freddie, Larry and Johnnie and Mr. and Mrs. Ellis Moore of Evansville, Ind.; Mrs. Joe Sinyard and Edna and Linn of Birmingham, Ala.

Raymond McIntyre of Mer Rouge, La.; Doyle Landers of Fort Campbell, Ky.; Mrs. Gloria Rich and Doug and Donald and Mr. and Mrs. Dennis McGarity of Essex; and Mrs. Mary Alford of Bloomfield.

POLLY'S POINTERS

Stains on stove, tile stand out

By Polly Cramer

Polly's Problem

DEAR POLLY — I hope someone can tell me how to remove stains from my bronze stove top and laminated plastic tile counter tops. Bowl rings and stains really show up. Since we have hard water I wonder if that is causing them. Please help me remedy this problem. — MRS. F.E.I.

DEAR POLLY — I work in a small convenience-type store from 7 a.m. to 4 p.m. each day and am amazed at the lack of courtesy shown by many customers. I try very hard to be polite but sometimes my anger breaks through. Most people seem to have forgotten how to say "Please" and "Thank you." So many demand rather than ask and I feel sure all salespeople would be more than willing to meet them half way or more. Thanks for allowing me to voice my Pet Peeve. — LINDA.

DEAR POLLY — I an answering Mrs. F.J.S. who complained about shopping carts being so unsanitary because of mothers carrying babies in the part that is intended for groc eries. She is apparently a Mrs. but surely not a mother for a mother would know that a baby is usually the most sterilized member of the family. The "Baby's slobbering over the cart with cookies and candy" and contaminating Mrs. F.J.S.'s lettuce, celery, etc., can hardly be more offending than an adult pinching and handling fruits and vegetables with unwashed hands while a cigarette dangles from a coughing mouth.

Also, Mrs. F.J.S. did not include dogs and other pets that are supposedly forbidden in stores but often tolerated. I have an idea she is more in sympathy with those who leave a shopping cart littered with hair, dirty facial tissues, coffee cups, etc., than those carrying Baby. — MRS. H.H.

DEAR GIRLS - After Mrs. F.J.S.'s letter was published we heard from one company. Its business is picking up such grocery carts at many stores periodically to sterilize them. Store owners are not unaware of the problem. — POLLY.

DEAR POLLY — After washing my hair I rinse it with cold water. This closes the oil glands and I do not have to wash it so often. — DENA.

DEAR GIRLS — This Pointer was printed in this column some years ago but is well worth repeating. I have used it constantly since then and now would not feel my hair was clean if rinsed with warm water. The effect is so stimulating. I use it even in winter when the water is icy cold. — POLLY.

DEAR POLLY — Our son was so busy while in college that we knew he had little time for writing but still felt we had to be in touch. We would buy 10 stamped post cards at a time, address them to ourselves and send them to him so all he had to do was pick up one and write a few lines. This made us feel better just to see his handwriting and know he was all right. — MRS. V.N.

850 expected at Scout Camp

SILVA — The first regular session of Camp Lewallen, the Southeast Missouri Council Boy Scout camp, began Sunday and will run through Saturday.

Six week-long sessions are scheduled this summer, with each session beginning on Sunday and running until Saturday.

Twenty-nine staff members are employed by Southeast Missouri Boy Scout Council, headquartered in Cape Girardeau, to work with scoutmasters who bring their troops to camp. More than 850 campers are expected this year from the 65 troops that have made reservations.

Gene Cook, principal of Marquand School, has been employed as camp director, and Fred French of Sikeston is the professional camp staff advisor.

A special treat for boys attending the camp this summer will be the opportunity to meet Ronald Cresswell from Falkirk, Scotland. Cresswell will serve as a camping skills counselor.

Lessons for Young Bicyclists to Learn

Sikeston Police Department

Weather Conditions - Lesson No. 7

Every operator of any kind of moving vehicle is effected by the weather conditions prevailing. This is true of airplane pilots, in all air traffic, as well as trucks, cars, and all other ground traffic. Even our astronauts flying rockets must take heed of the weather conditions to fly safely.

Boys and girls riding bicycles MUST be careful to follow the rules of safe biking at all times, but expecially during bad weather. It is, of course, the best policy to stay off your bike during rain storms, snow storms, fog and darkness. For those who find they must ride their bikes in bad weather, to deliver papers, go to school, or other good reasons, we will use this lesson to discuss proper safety precautions.

In bad weather the bicyclist MUST remember that it is far more difficult to be seen than in bright sunshine. Everyone has ridden in an automobile with their parents, when rain or snow has been falling. Remember how the windshield wipers had a difficult time keeping the windshield clean enough to see out? Sometimes, there is a split second, each time the wipers go back and forth, when the driver cannot see ahead of him!

Do everything you possibly can to make it EASIER to see you. Wear light colored clothing, a bright colored raincoat or jacket, and have your headlight on, even though it may not be after dark!

You must be particularly cautious about riding close to the curb, crossing at intersections or darting out of driveways or alleys. Always STOP and look both ways before proceeding at such places!

There is a safety slogan that motorists use now which, if kept in mind at all times, will help you to be extremely careful: "DRIVE DEFENSIVELY"....this means drive to PROTECT YOURSELF at all times, no matter what the other drivers are doing! As an example, let's say you are approaching a stop sign at an intersection, and you have already made your stop, but a car is approaching his stop sign on the street coming in from your right. You would naturally ASSUME that he was going to stop for the stop sign facing him. But, what if he doesn't see it due to heavy rain falling? So long as you had made your stop, you would have the RIGHT to go across the intersection, but a SAFE rider should WAIT until he is sure the cars approaching his path of travel are really going to stop! To be positively safe, NEVER ASSUME that the driver of a motor vehicle is going to do what he is supposed to do! NEVER! (99 times out of 100 the drivers around you in cars will follow the rules of safe driving, but it's that ONE time they don't that could cause you to be hit by a car on your bicycle and seriously hurt!

If you are riding your bike in bad weather, or even after dark in good weather, and your bicycle headlight should stop working, NEVER continue to ride in the streets or on the highway! ALWAYS get off your bike and walk it home! Doing this could save your life!

QUESTIONS	Yes	No

Highlights and sidelights

Smooth transition seen for reorganization plan

JEFFERSON CITY — "Although the full effectiveness of the reorganization of Missouri government will not be known for many months, progress is right on target," said Robert James, head of the Missouri Office of Administration.

A new structure for Missouri government was required by a constitutional amendment which voters passed on Aug. 8, 1972.

After intense debate throughout the 1973 legislative session and a subsequent special session, the Missouri House and Senate agreed to the "Omnibus State Reorganization Act of 1974". It becomes effective July 1.

The implementation of the reorganization plan will not come at once, James said, but "will take considerable time. However, we are happy and optimistic as the first major planning deadline -- June 30 -- approaches."

On June 30, two major "paperwork items" -- transfer agreements and departmental plans -- must be in the governor's hands.

Transfer agreements from each of the 87 old governmental units will describe their "personnel, equipment, other property and matters pending" so new department heads will know what they have to work with. "These are more nearly inventories than anything else," James said.

At the same time heads of the 14 new departments must file departmental plans. Reorganization legislation gives the governor discretion to judge these plans. But, because the departments may be reorganized at any time by the department heads, such plans are not ironclad. James said many modifications can be expected.

"Physical consolidation" will follow these planning efforts at varying rates, depending on obstacles faced by each department head. As physical reorganization is completed, there will be two means for judging reorganizational succes, James said.

"First, each Missourian will benefit from improved delivery of services. we hope to reduce the divisive appearance of state government so people will know where to get the services they need with the least effort. This increased performance is hard to measure in dollars."

"Second, as integration of the old agencies is carried out, we will get some idea of monetary savings. It will take some time to consolidate staffs, buildings and materials, of course. However, some efforts, such as in the Department of Public Safety, will be well underway in the next three months," James explained.

The best indications of savings from reorganizations will be in the 1976 budget requests which must be submitted by department heads on Oct. 1.

James declined to predict if these budgets will reflect a reduction in state expenditures through increased efficiency and elimination of duplication brought about by reorganization.

One persistent critic of the reorganization legislation, Sen. A Clifford Jones (R-Brentwood), said, "The original recommendations to the legislature (by the little Hoover Commission) could have saved the taxpayers $30 million.

The legislation which was passed "will, at best, save taxpayers $3.5 million and, at worst, will cost an additional $7.5 million," Jones said.

Control over the budget may be used by legislators to offset their loss of control over internal departmental policies.

Plans which threaten favored programs and patronage employes of the Democratic legislature may be countered by cutbacks in funding. Such tension could hamper reorganizational efforts.

Charles Valier, counsel to Gov. Bond, said, "We don't expect such problems with the legislature. But it would be naive to completely discount them."

Another means of influencing reorganization which the legislature retains is senatorial approval of the governor's appointments to departmental commissions and directorships.

Nominees favoring programs unacceptable to the Democratic legislature may not be confirmed at all or be confirmed only upon reassuring senators that departmental programs will confirm to their wishes.

In addition to legislative scrutiny of budgeting and nominations, reorganization is limited by provisions in the legislation which authorizes it.

Eagleton critical of postal service

"Over 700,000 letters are delivered late in Missouri every day," Sen. Thomas F. Eagleton of St. Louis said last week in a speech before the U. S. Senate.

"Even when taking into consideration the great volumes of mail handled daily by the Postal Service, a half million late letters a day is too much," Eagleton added.

Eagleton asked that a copyrighted article by Ronald Kessler, which appeared in the Washington Post, regarding the U. S. Postal Service be printed in the Congressional Record.

Kessler's article revealed that the people of St. Louis were subjects of an intensive advertising campaign by the U. S. Postal Service.

St. Louis received worse mail service than the rest of the country, but opinions of the Postal Service were higher in St. Louis than in cities with better service that had not been exposed to the advertising,' Eagleton told the Senate.

Eagleton said he finds an advertising campaign to improve the image of the Postal Service an inappropriate expenditure of federal funds.

In May, Eagleton said he conducted a study ofMissouri mails and found many areas of deficiency. And on May 23 he presented his findings to Postmaster General E. T. Klassen.

"My study found that air mail and first class mail posted in Washington, D. C., and received in Missouri take exactly the same transit time," Eagleton said. "Making the public aware of what they are getting for their air mail money would be an appropriate advertising expense by the Postal Service," he added.

Eagleton added that the Postal Service says that 95 per cent of the mails are delivered within the time allowed by "Postal Service standards."

Kessler's article points out that the Postal Service times delivery between the post office postmarking the letter and the post officer receiving the letter, Eagleton told the senators.

"When timing from mail box to front door, as I recently did in my own sutdy in Missouri, service standards were met only 85 per cent of the time," Eagleton said.

Kessler's article reveals a number of other disturbing developments regarding the delivery of the mail, Eagleton said.

Poplar Bluff minister gives kidney to teen-age daughter

ST. LOUIS — A Poplar Bluff Baptist minister, the Rev. Otis Hawes, donated his left kidney to his 15- year-old daughter, Marsha Ann, in transplant surgery performed Monday at St. Louis University's Fimimin Desloge Hospital.

Both father and daughter were reported in good condition.

Miss Hawes, a victim of chronic glonerulo nephritis of both kidneys, had been an outpatient at Cardinal Glennon Memorial Hospital for Children since she was seven years old. Since April she has received kidney dialysis treatments at Desloge.

The transplant operations began at 7 a.m. and were performed by two surgical teams, headed by Dr. John E. Codd, a surgeon, and Dr. John G. Gregory, a neurologist.

Gregory's team removed the father's kidney in a 90-minute opeation. It was then transplanted in a 2½- hour operation.

Miss Hawes will remain at Desloge for several days. If her progress is satisfactory, she will be transferred to Cardinal Glennon Hospital, a hospital spokesman said.

The spokesman said it is hoped Miss Hawes will be able to return home in about three weeks.

Her mother, Dorothy Hawes, accompanied husband and daughter to the hospital. The Haweses' other children are Victor, 17; James, 12; Ronald, 10, and La Rita, 11.

The Rev. Mr. Hawes, 38, is pastor of Alice Street Baptist Church in Poplar Bluff and is also a counselor at the Mingo Job Corps Center at Puxico.

A fund to enable the family to meet medical expenses has been established. Checks may be sent to David Nichols, commerce Bank, Poplar Bluff, Mo. 63901, made out to the Marsha Ann Hawes Kidney Fund.

LEADS SIXTH TIME

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The United States Trotting Assn. reports that Herve Filion of Angers, Que., has led North American harness drivers in victories the past four years, and in money the past six years. The 34-year-old driver piloted his own helicopter for day and night racing and turned in 445 victories in 1973. Horses he drove earned $2,233,302.

In 1972 Filion set a world record with 605 wins in one year.

Prayer for Today

from The Upper Room

"He that loveth me shall be loved of my Father, and I will love him, and will manifest myself to him." (John 14:21) PRAYER: Our Father, we remember Jesus. And as we think of the things He did for us and the things He said, we want to be like Him. We are grateful for His example. Help us to be faithful to His name by the way we live. Amen.

Firemen called to Greer St.

Firemen were called at 8:30 p.m. Monday to the Danny Eisenhower home, 741 Greer St., when a neighbor spotted smoke coming out of the house.

At 12:39 p.m., firemen were called to 223 Dorothy St. when a car knocked over a gas meter. There was no fire and Associated Natural Gas Co. workmen repaired the meter.

effort to reach the $500 goal, at which time an inscribed plaque is displayed on the outside of the hospital building. At the $1,000 mark, a plaque is displayed on the inside of the hospital. All donations made in Tina's name go toward her goal, although the money is pooled into the hospital fund.

"It's just an incentive for the children," Mrs. Plunk explained. "They look forward to reaching their goals and make every effort to assist in the hospital funding.

"You couldn't ask for a greater hospital and staff," she noted. "The care and consideration of each staff member is appreciated more than we can ever show."

Most people remain skeptical of a cure for leukemia and it's not very often one hears of a child making a complete recovery from the disease, but for 6-year - old Tina Plunk, life ahead looks promising.

With more than 80,000 government employes, Kansas City ranks second only to Washington D.C. as a government employment center.

Sikeston man draws suspended sentence

Gregory Otis Terrell, 113 Pine Oak, was given a one-year suspended jail sentence and placed on supervised probation for two years by Judge Lloyd Briggs during Magistrate Court proceedings this morning in the Sikeston City Courtroom.

Terrell was charged with breaking into the Sikeston Public Schools and stealing personal property on March 29.

On a charge against Terrell of possession of marijuana on April 2, sentencing was deferred until June 17, 1975.

After pleading guilty to a Feb. 2 charge of writing a $25 bad check to Britts Department Store, Jackie Stanley of Portageville was given a 60-day suspended jail sentence and placed on probation for two years.

A charge against Georgia Jackson of Charleston of writing a $38 bad check to Britts Department Store on Oct. 22, 1973, was continued until June 25 to give her time to obtain an attorney.

Trial was set on July 16 for Roy Suggs, 118 Fourth St., after he pleaded not guilty to a June 8 charge of possession of marijuana.

The court appointed an attorney to represent Wayne Lee Harris, Route Three, on a charge of breaking into Lambert's Cafe on June 12 and stealing personal property.

After pleading guilty to a nonsupport charge, John LeRoy Marks of Neelyville was given a 30- day suspended jail sentence. He was also ordered to pay $5 per week per child for their support.

A May 29 marijuana possession charge against David Leon Bean, 424 Sunset Drive, was continued until July 2.

The court ordered that probation be continued for Larry Eldon Evans, 320 Greer St., after he appeared in court to show why his probation should not be revoked. He had been charged with nonsupport.

LIQUOR

A new state law going into effect in August authorizes liquor by the drink sales in resorts which are defined as establishments with more than 40 rooms and a restaurant doing more than 60 per cent of its business in food and $100,000 a year in sales.

Drumm told the council he would prepare an ordinance for the next council meeting changing the city codes to be in agreement with the state law. The city does not now allow liquor to be sold by the drink.

Only two establishments in Sikeston are believed affected by the law.

The council decided to charge $450 for the city liquor license to those establishments.

HIGHWAY

Whitlock gave councilmen a copy of a letter he mailed to Lionel Murray, district engineer of the Missouri Highway Department.

The letter urges that interchanges be constructed on Highway 60 at Route AA and Highway 61 and limited access be permitted between these two routes.

The highway department is beginning to formulate plans for widening Highway 60 from Sikeston to Poplar Bluff and possibly closing access routes along the way. City officials fear that if the access routes were closed between Route AA and Highway 61, growth in the southeast part of town would be cut off.

OTHER ACTION

The council agreed to meet with representatives of the Charleston ruban renewal project to find out what it does and how it has worked in Charleston.

The council is considering the possiblitiy of trying again to get public approval for urban renewal in Sikeston.

The council authorized the transfer of $15,000 from the general revenue fund to the park board in the form of a loan.

The council accepted the city's comprehensive plan from the Bootheel Regional Planning Commission.

Ron Yersak of BRPC told the council Sikeston's plan is slightly different than others because it not only identities existing industrial sites, but also sites for future industrial use. In addition, each of the future sites has a profile of its location and facilities.

The council approved $250 to pay for extra printing costs. The costs were higher than expected because of inflation.

Molton stars

The one-hit pitching of Ryan Construction's Molton highlighted American League games Monday night.

Ryan blanked Righter Trucking 18-0 and First National edged Bridger 2-1 in a pitchers duel.

Green and Bickford collected three hits apiece to lead a 14 hit Ryan barrage. Pool got Righter's only hit of the night.

Smith picked up the win for First National and teamed with Jackson to lead the hitting department with two hits apiece. Eckles had two hits to pace Bridger's five hit attack.

Limbaugh homers

Larry Keller, backed by some outstanding fielding plays, held the Bank of Sikeston scoreless as Davis and Bird breezed to a 11-0 win in Junior Babe Ruth action Monday night. The Eagles rallied in the bottom of the seventh for a 7-6 win over Elliott- Newton in the other league encounter.

Keller fanned eight and walked five while his teammates got him three runs in the first and second innings and ended the game in the sixth with a five run outbreak.

Jeff Limbaugh had a three run homer to highlight the encounter that included a triple by Scott Scherer and a double by Dale Deal.

The Eagles relied on tough defense and clutch hitting to defeat Elliott- Newton, who out- slugged the winners 10-5.

Roger Cloud picked up the win, fanning five and walking three while connecting for a key double in the two-run seventh inning rally.

Eight free bases by the Elliott- Newton pitching staff enabled the Eagles to score some rather easy runs.

Bob Leible led the Eagles five hit attack with a pair of doubles while Butler had three of E&N's 10 hits.

Standard bombs bank

The Sikeston Standard went on a rampage Monday night in Musial League action, pounding out 20 hits and scoring 33 runs to back the one hit pitching of Mike Moore in a 33-0 blanking of the Bank of Sikeston. Kingsway Plaza thumped Rotary 10-4 in the other league game.

Bloemer connected for four doubles and Lambert three to pace the Standard's offensive department. Mark Moore and Bloemer went four for four at the plate. Bohnerl had the Bank's lone hit.

Merrell collected three hits to back the five hit pitching of Davis who also doubled and tripled as Kingsway Plaza booked another win Monday. McGill paced Rotary's hitting with two hits, including a double.

Aaron tops vote

NEW YORK (AP) — Outfielder Hank Aaron, Atlanta's home run champ, leads the voting for the 1974 National League All-Star team with the ballots of about one million baseball fans counted.

Commissioner Bowie Kuhn said Monday Aaron had 484,972 votes in the first two weeks of balloting for the July 23 game in Pittsburgh.

Cincinnati and Los Angeles players became the top NL contenders for all seven other positions in the voting, which ends July 7.

Cincinnati's Johnny Bench topped catchers with 429,447 votes and ranked second to Aaron in the over-all NL totals.

Outfielders Pete Rose of Cininnati was second with 288,854 votes and Jimmy Wynn of Los Angeles third with 224,490. Neither Rose nor Wynn were among last week's top vote-getters.

The other Cincinnati leaders were second baseman Joe Morgan with 251,270 votes and first baseman Tony Perez with 162,133.

Other Los Angeles contenders were third baseman Ron Cey with 219,978 votes and shortstop Bill Russell with 183,952.

Manager Yogi Berra of New York will choose the pitchers.

Inn, Lions win

Pizza Inn and Lions chalked up wins in National league action Monday night.

Longstreet held Lewis Furniture to one hit and got a home run off the bat of King as the Lions clawed their way to a 10-2 win.

J. Laseter banged out three of the Inn's eight hits to lead them to a 7-4 verdict over Security National. Lane picked up the victory.

HARRISONBURG, Va. (AP) — The Florida Blazers cut their roster to 62 players Monday with the release of three rookies during preseason training.

A spokesman for the Orlando entry in the World Football League said the team dropped John Curtis, a tight end from Springfield College; Kenny Lipkins, a corner back from Maryland State-Eastern Shore, and Bill Luhrs, a kicker from the State University of New York.

NOW HEAR THIS!

PRIDE OR GOOD HEARING?

By

Do you know why many persons with hearing problems delay being examined? One reason is that they think a hearing aid is too conspicuous. They allow pride to rob them of a priceless possession.

They fail to realize that their impaired hearing is far more conspicuous. Having to be shouted at is really attention getting!

Do not substitute pride for a chance to hear well again. Do not skip social activities because of hearing problems. Do not neglect church, concerts and the theater because of impaired hearing.

All of these wonderful pleasures could possibly be yours again. Regain that lost confidence today.

If you have any questions concerning your hearing, or have any interesting facts or stories on hearing, please call, visit or write to us

Cards fall to bullpen grad

ST. LOUIS (AP) — The San Francisco Giants have retrieved right-hander Jim Barr from the bullpen at an opportune time in their uphill National League baseball campaign.

The 26-year-old Barr spellbound the St. Louis Cardinals in the role of a starter Monday night and finished with an eight-hit, 3-0 triumph.

Barr's shutout was his second in a row and the triumph only the second for San Francisco its last nine games.

"I threw more curve balls than I did the last time, but basically I'm a fast ball-slider pitcher," he noted.

"In the bullpen you've got to throw strikes," Barr added. "I've been in a lot of 3-and-2 situations. I know there's no margin for error, so I just throw strikes."

Barr, who began the season as a Giants reliever, made 12 appearances in that capacity and had an 0-1 record before cast in the role of starter five times in May.

He emerged with a 1-3 record, took four more turns in relief in drawing to 2-3, then pitched a six-hitter conquering the Chicago Cubs 1-0 as a starter again last week.

Frazier beats quarry in five

NEW YORK (AP) — The fight had been over for about 15 minutes and the 60-year-old referee sat on a bench in Dressing Room 11 at the end of the corridor in Madison Square Garden.

"It was a good fight," said Joe Louis, who once reigned heavyweight boxing as the Brown Bomber. He stuffed his referee shoes—just worn in the Joe Frazier-Jerry Quarry heavyweight bout Monday night—into a small shopping bag.

He had just worked the bout, which he stopped at 1:37 of the fifth round. Frazier had battered Quarry, who was hurting and bleeding from a cut around the left eye.

Earlier in that round Frazier had signaled Louis to halt the bout as Quarry groped and bled from the cut. But Louis disregarded Frazier's plea. Frazier then finished off the Californian.

"The cut wasn't as big as Joe (Frazier) thought it was," said Louis in his quiet manner. "In another half-minute it was bigger and that's why I stopped it."

Today in U.S. History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Tuesday, June 18, the 169th day of 1974. There are 196 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1815, the British and the Prussians defeated Napoleon in the Battle of Waterloo in Belgium.

On this date:

In 1778, in the Revolutionary War, Colonial forces entered Philadelphia as the British withdrew.

In 1812, the United States declared war against Britain.

In 1940, during World War II, the Germans captured the French port of Cherbourg.

In 1953, Egypt was proclaimed a republic, and Premier Mohammed Naguib became the first president.

In 1958, there was a controversy in Washington about gifts received by White House executive assistant Sherman Adams.

In 1961, three princes of Laos, meeting in Zurich, Switzerland, agreed to form a coalition government to unite the war-ridden kingdom.

Ten years ago: The U.S. Supreme Court held unconstitutional a federal statute depriving naturalized citizens of citizenship if they returned to the land of their births for three years.

Five years ago: North Vietnamese forces in South Vietnam attacked two American installations near the Laos and Cambodia borders but were hurled back with heavy losses.

One year ago: The U.S. Senate Watergate committee suspended it hearings for the duration of talks in Washington between President Nixon and Soviet Communist party leader Leonid Brezhnev.

Thought for today: Two things are bad for the heart — running up stairs and running down people — Bernard Baruch.

What's the law?

The case of the shapely ding-a-ling

By JACK STRAUSS, LL.B.

When curvaceous Clara walked down the street, it was language in action. When she began telephoning Mr. Jones at all hours of the day and night, however, Mrs. Jones decided it was time to put an end to the language and to go into action herself.

Insisting that Clara was a ding- a- ling, she went to the telephone company and demanded that they take away her ting- a- ling.

"She's using her telephone to tempt my husband and to break up my marriage," she complained to several officials. "Since the telephone company gave her the phone, it's up to the telephone company to take it back. It's the only way to put a cramp in that vamp."

"Sorry," responded the officials, "but we can't do that. Our function is to provide telephone service and not peace of mind. When we cut someone off, it's never intentional."

Refusing to take "no" for an answer, Mrs. Jones hurried off to court where she demanded that the telephone company be ordered to take away Clara's telephone so as to stop her from making nuisance calls.

IF YOU WERE THE JUDGE, would you order the removal of ding- a- ling Clara's ting- a- ling?

This is how the judge ruled: NO! The judge held that when a telephone customer receives nuisance calls from another customer, the telephone company is under no obligation to the customer receiving the nuisance calls to remove the other customer's telephone.

Women who know say Latin men can't love

ROME (AP) — Foreign women quoted in a book published here Wednesday denied all those tales about great Latin lovers.

Italian men, they said, are poorly suited for the battle of the sexes.

"They are like puppies, not men," said an Austrian woman in the book, "Italsex," by Italian writer Costanzo Costantini.

"It's not true they are good lovers," a Chilean asserted. "They enjoy only the conquest and by the time they come to the physical act they are so tired that they can't do anything more."

The author said the interviews with 20 foreign women, all residents of Italy and all admitting to sex with Italian men, were intended to compare their views with accusations by Italian women that their Latin partners were inept in bed.
